Rupert at Alert On Plane Report

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (Passed by Cenor, CP)—An imminent danger signal sounded in Prince Rupert today when it was reported enemy planes were in the vicinity.

The sirens sounded their undulating, five-minute alarm beginning at 2:05 p.m., P.D.T.

It was the first such alarm sounded in Canada.

(Western Air Command headquarters in Victoria, queried on the Prince Rupert report, said: "The planes reported from Prince Rupert were definitely not enemy planes.")

Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers told the court Sito had been warned four times to leave.

British Sub Scores

Italian Destroyer, 4 Other Ships Sunk

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty announced today the British submarine Turbulent had sunk one Italian destroyer, three medium-sized supply ships and a small merchant ship in the central Mediterranean.

"Two Italian destroyers were escorting two heavily-laden supply ships of medium size," the Admiralty reported. "The Turbulent attacked and sank not only both supply ships of this convoy, but also one of the escorting destroyers."

The third supply ship which was sent down, the Admiralty said, was from another convoy.

The small merchant vessel was reported laden with explosives.

The Admiralty identified the destroyer as one of the 1,628-ton Navigator class.

The Turbulent was commanded by Cmdr. J. W. Linton, wearer of the Distinguished Service Cross. Submarines under his command already have sunk four Axis supply ships, six large schooners and a motor vessel carrying troops.

(As heard in broadcasts from Rome, the Italian high command today claimed its naval forces had sunk two British submarines in the Mediterranean. The communique said a torpedo boat sank one and anti-submarine units, supported by naval reconnaissance aircraft, the other.)

Canteen Funds Switched, Lost in Meighen Trust

OTTAWA (CP)—Mention of the name of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in the special House of Commons committee on $109,000 canteen funds today caused a clash between J. A. Marshall, New Democracy, Camrose, Alta., and Howard Green, Con., Vancouver South.

Mr. Marshall set out to answer a question asked by George Cruickshank, Lib., Fraser Valley, about investments made by the Alberta board of trustees for canteen funds of the first Great War. Reading from a prepared statement, Mr. Marshall said securities held by the Alberta committee in 1927 had been disposed of and the proceeds invested in shares of Canadian General Investment Trust Limited and Second Canadian General Investment Trust Limited to the extent of more than $109,000 and the loss occurred on these shares.

Mr. Marshall said the president of the company was Mr. Meighen and objection was taken when he said he did not know whether "members of the board went to Toronto or Mr. Meighen went to Edmonton."

Mr. Marshall said he was making no insinuations. He was just stating facts.

Mr. Green said Mr. Marshall had no right to make suggestions which would besmirch the character of responsible persons such as the members of the Alberta Board. He pressed Mr. Marshall for a statement to whether he charged dishonesty or bad faith.

"I would like to know who is on trial here, Marshall or the board," said Clarence Gillis, C.C.F., Cape Breton South.

He said Mr. Cruickshank's question had cast a reflection on the whole province of Alberta, and an Alberta member had a right to state where responsibility for the loss lay.

A. W. Dixon, chairman of the committee on administration of special funds, in the Department of Pensions and National Health, said the switch in investment of the Alberta funds occurred some time in 1928. At that time Col. W. G. McFarlane was chairman of the Alberta Board.

At the request of members of the committee, Mr. Dixon read a letter written to the department in 1931 by a new chairman of the board who succeeded Col. McFarlane, outlining the board's position and the circumstances leading up to resignation of Col. McFarlane.

It said that during the summer of 1938 Mr. Meighen visited Edmonton in the interests of the company with which he was associated. At the urgent request of Col. McFarlane the other board members agreed to the investment of $109,050 in the Investment Trust companies.

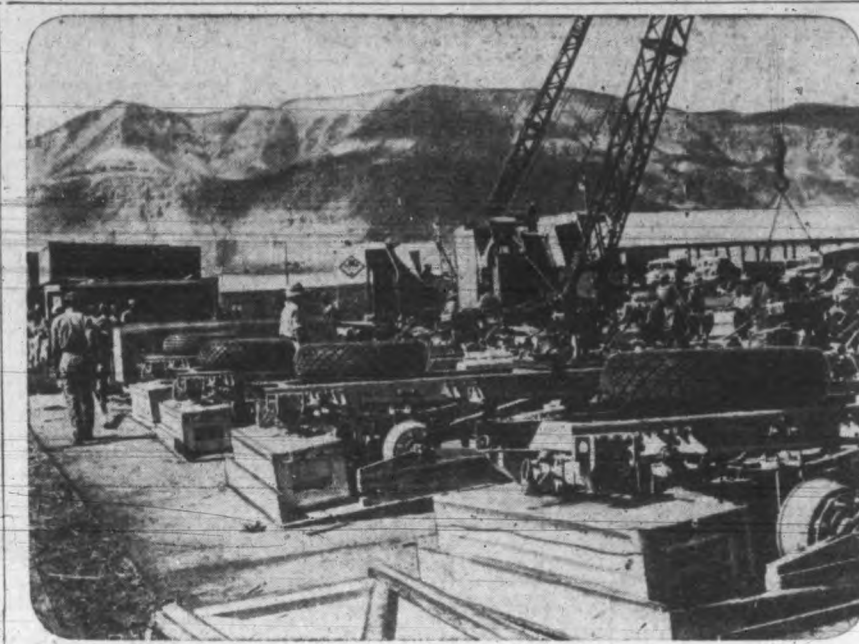

Subsequently, it was learned Col. McFarlane—who, the letter stated, operated a bond business—received a personal commission of $3,042 on the sale of shares in the investment companies to the board.

AUSTIN TAYLOR QUILTS JAP BOARD

VANCOUVER (CP)—Austin C. Taylor, chairman of the British Columbia Security Commission charged with evacuating Japanese from the coastal defence zone, said today movement of the province's 22,000 Japanese would be complete by the end of this month.

He said he had written to Ottawa asking that he be relieved of his duties as chairman. He said his two fellow workers, Assistant Commissioner F. J. Mead of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Assistant Commissioner John Shirras of the B.C. Police, also wished to attend other work.

Mr. Taylor said the evacuation machinery set up by the security commission three months ago would soon become a "mechanical job." Mr. Taylor is also vice-president of Wartime Merchant Shipping Limited, and said he would like more time to spend at that job.

$50,000,000 Waste In Using Route C For Alaska Road

WASHINGTON (AP)—Urging immediate construction of a highway to Alaska west of the Rocky Mountains and condemning the inland route road now being constructed as a "waste of millions and millions of dollars," Congressmen Warren G. Magnuson, Democrat, Washington State, said today the United States is in danger of losing Alaska unless a western road is built.

The road now being built, Magnuson told the House of Representatives, follows a route "so fantastic" it had been ignored by the American and Canadian international highway commissions. The American commission selected "Route A," west of the Rockies, running from Prince George, B.C., to Alaska, and the Canadian group chose "Route B," also starting from Prince George but running east of the Rockies.

The road being developed is known as "Route C," and stretches from Fort St. John, B.C., to Alaska.

Selection of the route will result in the wasting of millions of dollars for a road that will never be practicable, Magnuson said. The selection was made arbitrarily and when it became known members of the Canadian commission wired the American commission urging the plans be stopped, he declared.

"The army is hard put to it for an alibi," he said. "The field at Watson Lake can not be kept open the year around. There is no doubt in my mind, nor in that of one of our Canadian conferees, that Watson Lake must be abandoned for a field on a permanent road which can be kept open 12 months a year."

"We can easily lose Alaska unless we make a mighty effort to connect the territory to American bases by every possible means of transportation," Magnuson said. Fourteen bombers or pursuit planes being flown to Alaska have cracked up on the mountains near one of the fields at Watson Lake, he declared.

"I am told the loss of life has been small, if any, but many needed aviators are now in the hospital at Whitehorse." Either of the two western routes could be built for $50,000,000, while the route selected by the army will cost "not less than $100,000,000 if it can be built at all," the congressman said.

Bobby Jones in Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war department announced today that Bobby Jones, the famous Atlanta golfer, has been commissioned in the United States army and ordered to active duty. As Capt. Robert Tyre Jones, the former golf champion will report at Mitchell Field, N.Y., June 20, for duty with the army air forces.

Jap Casualties Mount to 18,000

CHUNGKING (AP)—The Chinese high command declared tonight that Chuhsien, key rail town in western Chekiang, still is in Chinese hands and that the fiercely attacking Japanese have lost 7,000 in dead and wounded in three days of bitter, futile assaults on its defences.

From Saturday morning to Monday night "battles of great ferocity" raged at the "inner and outer rings" of the city's defence lines, the communique said.

Tonight's report raised to at least 18,000 the total of Japanese casualties in the battle for Chuhsien, now in its second week.

Earlier today an army spokesman told how a Japanese force which had penetrated the walled city had been wiped out after three days of violent fighting. He said this had put the Chinese again in full possession of the city, but he warned China's situation in general "remains grave."

He said the Japanese were trying to by-pass the town, chiefly important because of its nearby airfield which is within bomber range of Tokyo, in an effort to trap large Chinese forces by closing a pincers with forces 180 miles to the west in Kiangsi province.

Ruhr Plants, Dieppe Wharves Pounded Again

LONDON (CP)—Air Chief Marshal A. T. Harris suggested today 10,000 bombers a night soon might fly over Germany and many might fly directly from America with bombs.

Speaking in a news reel, the commander-in-chief of the Bomber Command declared the present massive raids on Germany were but preliminary warm-ups for terrific punishment in store for Japan.

"One day in the near future, it might not be impossible to have 10,000 bombers over Germany in one night, including hundreds which could fly direct from America with a formidable bomb load, though of course this is only a surmise," he said.

Despite the mass raids on Cologne and Essen in which more than 1,000 bombers were used on each, Air Chief Marshal Harris said heavy bombing "hasn't been tried yet."

"Some people argue that heavy bombing will not win wars," he said. "To them I argue that it hasn't been tried yet. When it is, Germany will be the experiment and Japan will be the confirmation."

He likened the raids which laid the northern ports of Luebeck and Rostock in rubble to a "gentle zephyr."

The bomber commander indicated the raids will continue at a dramatically increased scale and said when the United States Army Air Corps gets permanently into action, three or four times the number of bombers which raided Cologne will be used.

R.A.F., R.C.A.F. Raid Ruhr, Dieppe Docks

The air chief marshal's announcement came as a "strong force" of British and Canadian bombers returned after having dropped explosives over hundreds of square miles of Hitler's domain Monday night. The bombers raided the great industrial Ruhr, the Dieppe docks and railways and airfields in France and Holland.

The R.A.F. lost 18 bombers. Two Canadian bomber squadrons took part in the attacks.

In "intruder" raids over France and Holland aimed at diverting German defences from the R.A.F.'s main objective—Boston bombers exploded an ammunition dump on the Schiphol airfield and pock-marked the runways with direct hits.

Another pilot derailed a freight train engine and Hurricane fired cannon shells into six other locomotives. The raids continued the virtually ceaseless attacks on German rail systems, so vital to Nazi control of western Europe.

Estimated 450 Shared in Raids

The losses were the heaviest reported since the 1,000-bomber raid on the great steel city of Essen last week, but were believed well below the dangerous 10 per cent figure which makes raiding unprofitable.

The recent average of losses of less than 4 per cent on British night operations indicate that more than 450 planes took part in the engagements.

JAPS HEAR HINTS FLEET HAD LOSSES

NEW YORK (AP)—The Japanese government may be preparing its people for bad news concerning the naval battle of Midway.

A Tokyo newspaper article, quoted today by the Berlin radio, suggested strongly the Japanese are being warned they may have to learn soon of the loss of important warships. Nowhere in the broadcast, however, was the battle of Midway mentioned.

So far as New York radio listeners know, the Tokyo radio has not yet said a word about the conflict.

"One cannot always expect victories, but must also be able to stand losses," the Berlin broadcast quoted an unnamed Japanese admiral as saying in an interview with the Tokyo newspaper Asahi.

Hangman Heydrich 'Martyr,' Says Hitler

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—Hitler called Reinhard Heydrich, assassinated Gestapo official, "one of our martyrs" today at a state funeral shortly after Heinrich Himmler, head of the secret police, declared "It is our holy duty to avenge" the protector of Bohemia and Moravia.

Hitler made an unannounced appearance at the funeral, leaving his headquarters on the Russian front to confer on the slain No. 2 Gestapo chief "the highest award of the German order."

He placed a wreath on the coffin and embraced Heydrich's two sons before leaving the funeral hall.

(Heydrich died last week after two undetected Czech assassins had bombed his automobile and machine-gunned him. Already 234 Czechs have been reported executed in reprisal.)

Himmler declared Heydrich "knew the subversive elements" in Czechoslovakia and Austria and "knew how to dispose of them."

"Heydrich flew, without my knowledge, against the Russians," Himmler said, declaring his assistant had been shot down by anti-aircraft guns but returned safely and took up another plane the next day.

Dr. Emil Hacha, puppet president of the Czech protectorate, and his entire cabinet arrived for the funeral in a special train. Numerous delegations of industrial and agricultural workers also came from Bohemia and Moravia on the same train.

Himmler said Heydrich "is a blood witness that Bohemia and Moravia are and always will be territories of the Reich."

He asserted Heydrich fired twice at his assassins after he was wounded.

British, Free French Take Toll

Beat Off Axis Troops At Libya Oasis

CAIRO (AP)—Free French and British defenders of the tiny oasis of Bir Hacheim, which is fast becoming the new Tobruk of the Libyan campaign, beat off one of the strongest Axis assaults yet unleashed on Allied positions in north Africa in a day-long battle, British headquarters reported today.

For the sixth straight day the garrison's commander, Gen. Pierre Koenig, an Alsatian who fought at Narvik and in the Battle of France, flatly rejected a ceremonial Italian demand for surrender of the post, the inland anchor of Britain's Libyan line 50 miles southwest of Tobruk.

Gefman armored units were rushed from Knightsbridge, 25 miles to the north to join Italian armored forces and Axis infantry in the attack.

AIR BATTLES

The R.A.F. and German dive-bombers fought hour after hour as the battle went on, but the British Middle East command reported officially today that the attack was repulsed.

Numerous Axis supply cars were destroyed or damaged by the R.A.F. in intense air raids over the battle area and its approaches, an air force communiqué said. Tanks and gun emplacements were bombed.

Nine R.A.F. planes were lost in widespread operations which included bombing Cagliari harbor at the southern tip of Sardinia and the airframe of Candia, capital of Crete. Fires were visible for 70 miles from Crete.

Five Axis planes were destroyed over the battle area and others were damaged, the R.A.F. said.

The brief army communiqué said there had been but little activity in the Knightsbridge area, which was the focus of much of the see-saw fighting before the desert struggle lapsed into comparative quiet.

Military observers believed the inactivity in the Knightsbridge area was only a lull before a new German attempt to thrust north-eastward toward Acroma or Tobruk.

The enemy's use of infantry in that area last Sunday was regarded as evidence the German armored forces have been seriously depleted by the incessant hammering by British planes and guns, and that these elements were being conserved for a new assault.

There are no indications, these observers say, that the Germans plan to withdraw through their gap in the British minefields.

TARANTO RAIDED

ROME (From Italian Broadcasts, AP)—A British air raid on Taranto, mainland naval base on the foot of the Italian boot, was reported by the Italian high command communiqué today, but it claimed the only damage was by fire ashore.

The fires were small and immediately brought under control, the war bulletin asserted.

(Taranto was the scene of the British torpedo plane attack on November, 1940. In that one blow two battleships were seriously crippled, a third was probably damaged, and two cruisers and some auxiliaries damaged.)

'Scandalous,' Says Coldwell

Government Uses Agencies To Place Own CBC Programs

OTTAWA (CP)—Action of government departments in placing programs on the publicly-owned CBC through private advertising agencies which received a discount was criticized by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F., House leader, before the House of Commons radio committee today.

Mr. Coldwell termed the practice "scandalous." Evidence was given that by placing programs through agencies the cost to the government was the same as though it were placed directly by the CBC, by allowing discounts to the agencies, received less revenue.

Gordon, Graydon, Conservative, Peel, Ont., questioned General Manager Murray, on the practice in allocating radio time to government departments in the absence of any centralized authority.

COMMITTEE PLAN

Mr. Murray said a plan now was being evolved from an inter-departmental committee co-ordinating government campaigns. A need had been felt for some central control.

Mr. Claxton suggested the inter-departmental committee should be extended to perform some of the functions of the office of facts and figures in the United States.

Mr. Murray said the CBC, as the only major radio network in Canada, acted as a co-ordinator. In some cases a government department consulted directly with the CBC and in other cases with an advertising agency.

New Drugs Relieve Pain, May Prevent Stomach Ulcers

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A form of ammonia found in the common pitcher plant of swamps in the eastern United States, one shot of which relieves deep-seated pain for days or weeks, was described to the American Medical Association here today.

The treatment was exhibited by Drs. Wm. Bates, Bernard Judovich, and Winifred Stewart, graduate hospital, Philadelphia.

Evidence that a new drug, enterogestone, may possess the power to immunize against stomach ulcers was reported to the internal secretions meeting, which is held in conjunction with the association.

The discovery was reported by Drs. A. P. Hands, H. Greenfard, G. B. Fauley and A. C. Ivy, Northwestern University Medical School. For several years Northwestern has been experimenting with the new substance.

BIRTH CONTROL

The first birth control exhibit ever shown at an association annual meeting was given today.

"Do you mean the government pays an advertising agency to place its programs with the CBC?" Mr. Coldwell asked.

"Not quite that," said Mr. Murray. "It is a matter of booking and discounts."

B. Claxton, Liberal, St. Lawrence-St. George, Montreal, asked whether the Wartime Prices and Trade Board had gone directly to advertising agencies to have programs produced.

E. L. Bushnell, general supervisor of CBC programs, said that was so. Under further questioning he said the CBC had not been consulted although it "possibly" had facilities for handling the programs by itself.

LOAN DRIVES

A similar practice had been followed by the Munitions and Supply Department and the War Finance Committee in connection with Victory Loan drives.

"I think this is scandalous," Mr. Coldwell interjected.

Mr. Bushnell said the policy was normal trade practice, with agencies receiving discounts.

The agencies prepared announcements and the CBC handled production, with the agency getting a 15 per cent discount on the rate charged by the CBC.

Mr. Coldwell asked that Mr. Murray produce later a statement of the total amount of discount paid by the CBC on government advertising placed through agencies.

Contraception was presented as a new instrument in preventive medicine. Contraception, it was claimed, decreases: 1—Deaths in tuberculosis, heart, kidney and other diseases. 2—Maternal and child deaths from too frequent pregnancies. 3—Hereditary syphilis and other hereditary diseases. 4—Diseases of malnutrition and vitamin deficiency by adapting family size to income. 5—Decreases induced abortions by making every child a wanted child.

The exhibit, under direction of Dr. Clarence J. Gamble of Milton, Mass., showed that in three states, South Carolina, North Carolina and Alabama, the boards of health have begun county programs in spacing pregnancies. In South Carolina a contraceptive service is available in every county, in North Carolina in 81 counties out of 100, and in Alabama in more than half the counties.

Similar county contraceptive services are about to start in four other states, Dr. Gamble said. He withheld the names of the states.

$50 a Month For U.S. Soldiers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $50-a-month minimum pay scale for the armed forces of the United States had the overwhelming approval of Congress today, and only the completion of technical parliamentary procedure remained to make this and other increases effective as of June 1.

The Senate added its stamp of approval Monday in a 58 to 20 vote instructing its members of a joint conference committee to accept House amendments to the military pay adjustment bill which would give army buck privates and navy apprentice seamen $50 monthly.

In the same action, the Senate voted to raise the pay of first-class privates and second-class seamen to $54 and to make all of the increases for ranks up to and including second lieutenants retroactive to the first of this month.

This was accomplished by adopting a motion to return the pay bill to conference with instructions to accept the amendments previously written into the measure by the House on a vote of 332 to 28 and later sustained by a second vote of 332 to 31.

In effect, the Senate thus rejected a compromise reached by the joint conference committee, setting the minimum pay at $46 and that of the second lowest rank at $52. Previously the Senate had voted to make the pay $42 and $48 in these classes.

Flies Atlantic To See Sick Child

LONDON (CP)—Good news greeted L.A.C. Jim Challis, 24, of Stratford, Eng., when after a trans-Atlantic "mercy" flight from Canada he learned his three-year-old daughter, June, dangerously ill of diphtheria, would recover.

In hospital June flung her tiny arms around Challis' neck and cried happily, "Daddy, Daddy, I want to come home with you."

Just a week ago Challis was one of thousands of R.A.F. men undergoing ground staff training in Canada with the aim of obtaining a corporal's stripes. Then came the cable saying June was dangerously ill.

That was when Challis learned the authorities of the armed forces are really human. The next thing he knew he was speeding east from the prairies to the takeoff point for trans-Atlantic Liberator bombers.

Exhausted, he slept most of the way across the Atlantic, his head cushioned on the shoulder of a fellow passenger—an air marshal.

After landing somewhere in Britain, he was whisked to London in a service plane.

Chronometers Urgently Needed

MONTREAL—"Chronometers are urgently needed for Canada's newly-built cargo ships and every person giving up to the wartime merchant marine one such valuable instrument will be making a direct and important contribution to the country's war effort."

This is part of the invitation now being extended by D. McK. Ford, vice-president, purchases and stores, Canadian National Railways.

Mr. Ford's department is responsible for the "storing" of the cargo vessels built and building in Canadian shipyards, "storing" in this instance covering the multiplicity of requirements from navigating instruments to food in the galley.

In his appeal Mr. Ford states: "Standard chronometers are necessary to enable a ship to fix its position with some degree of accuracy, and without such apparatus navigation would be difficult. They are not made in Canada and before the war they were imported from abroad."

Mr. Ford explains: "What is required is a true ship's chronometer of standard size, with a compensated balance, and not what is commonly known as a watch chronometer. This appeal is made to all people in Canada who have such standard chronometers and the Canadian National Railways purchasing department at Montreal and Vancouver is prepared to pay a fair price, up to $250 each, having regard to the value of a new instrument, for standard chronometers in first class shape. Even if an instrument is not running, it may be repairable, and in such case a fair price will be offered."

The appeal is directed to retired sea captains who may have chronometers, jewelers who use them for time display, or any other individuals in possession of chro-

Victoria Fighter Pilot Has Thrilling Experiences

WITH THE R.C.A.F. SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—Even after a crash landing, Pilot, Eugene (the Jeep) Neal, D.F.C., had to inject a bit of humor into the situation. And P.O. Art Warner of Calgary can appreciate that type of fun—now.

Forced to crash land miles away from his station after a brush with German fighters over the Channel, Neal got in touch with his 'drome and was asked by Warner, engineering officer of the fighter squadron, what had caused the crash.

"Glycol trouble," the Quebec City lad replied laconically.

This worried Warner. He was responsible for aircraft maintenance. He sped to the wrecked craft, made an inspection, then raced back to the station in high dudgeon.

"No wonder you had glycol trouble, you—," Warner yelled at the grinning pilot. "With seven cannon holes in your kite."

Newest members of the first Canadian fighter squadron are Sgt. Pilots Bob (just call me Zip) Zobel, 22, Raymond, Alta., and Pat Mathewman, 21, Ottawa. Zobel earned the sobriquet when he came to the squadron and was asked his name. "Just call me Zip," he replied.

May Conscript Women In Australia

CANBERRA (AAP)—Australia soon may conscript women for war work. The Cabinet is scheduled to review the question of woman power at an early meeting, and compulsion may be decided on then.

The task of providing an additional 318,000 workers, a goal set by Prime Minister John Curtin for the end of the year, will involve increasing use of women's services.

Mr. Curtin said only 49,000 additional women are sought, compared with 269,000 men, but it is likely the Cabinet will raise the number of women sought to 100,000 and authorize compulsion, if necessary.

Hurl Nazis Back From Sebastapol

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP)—German troops, tanks and planes pressing an offensive against Sebastopol, the fortified Crimean seaport, were reported today to have been repulsed in fierce battles in two sectors where they attempted to deal death blows to the Soviet Black Sea fortress.

The army newspaper Red Star, in the first detailed dispatch from Sebastopol since start of the offensive June 5, said the Russians broke a wedge which the Germans had succeeded in driving into one sector and hurled the enemy back on the other sector, improving their own positions.

Lesser assaults on other points in the ring around Sebastopol also were reported checked, with immense losses for the Germans.

During the first two days of the Sebastopol offensive, Red Star said, the Germans attacked with small forces in several sectors, prodding about for soft spots in the Soviet defences. These preliminary attacks were beaten off while the main defences remained intact under enemy bombings.

Allies' Outlook Brighter Every Week

CANTON, N.Y. (CP)—Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada, told a St. Lawrence University audience the omens for success of the United Nations "get better every week."

The high commissioner was given an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

He told of standing at an airfield in Scotland waiting to fly to Canada. A "steady stream" of planes was coming in from the west, the products of American working people in American factories.

"No doubt since then those very machines have, in company with their fellows made in English factories, followed their great hop across the Atlantic by some hops across the English Channel to deliver certain heavy messages from you on some of Hitler's military centres," Mr. MacDonald said.

More Road Work Expected in B.C.

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell Monday told the House of Commons the government is "going to press with vigor the road-building policy in operation at the present time."

He said that in the next three or four months "probably there will be more work of that kind going on in British Columbia that has for its purpose the successful prosecution of the war in that part of the Dominion."

The minister was replying to a request from Hon. Grote Stirling, Conservative, Yale, for some assurance that the missing link in the Hope-Princeton highway in British Columbia would be completed.

Mr. Stirling said British Columbia people had been urging for 80 years the completion of that highway and had hoped the use of Japanese labor would make this objective attainable. But the working gangs of Japanese now on the job were short of machinery.

The minister said machinery was scarce and hard to get but there had been some improvement. He was anxious to see that highway completed, he said.

But there was also a desire to use Japanese to ease the acute labor shortage in certain other parts of the Dominion, on such projects as cultivation of sugar beet and pulpwood cutting.

Nevertheless the "slack" would be taken up in the roadbuilding camps, Mr. Mitchell said.

Says 1 Gun Now Worth 50 in 1943

TORONTO (CP)—Emphasizing peacetime production is unsatisfactory to war needs, G. K. Shields, deputy minister of munitions and supply, told the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here one gun or weapon produced today is worth five next month or 50 next year.

"We know there are still people in this country and even here at this meeting who still believe the peacetime tempo of production is satisfactory," he said. "It is not; it is not good enough."

Mr. Shields said obtaining materials for war production is becoming more and more difficult. It was evidenced here and there, as most manufacturers would know, by temporary slow-downs, despite all the efforts of the department's controllers to find supplies.

NEW GOVERNMENT TYPEWRITER REGULATIONS —and what they mean to Underwood users!

BECAUSE writing machines are essential to industrialized total war, rationing of typewriters was inevitable. All new and recent model, factory rebuilt, office-size machines had to be conserved for the vital needs of the United Nations' war production.

Underwood Elliott Fisher accordingly applauds the new regulations which went into effect June 1st. It pledges the sincerity and vigilance of its Dominion-wide sales, service and supply organization to the regulations' whole-hearted observance and rigid enforcement.

What the regulations mean:

- 1 Only governmental and military establishments, essential or semi-essential industries, may buy new Underwoods or recent model, factory rebuilt Underwoods;
- 2 Anyone may rent new office-size Underwoods or recent model, factory rebuilt Underwoods, subject to repossession should they be required for Government use;
- 3 Anyone may buy older model, factory rebuilt Underwoods;
- 4 Anyone may buy new Portable Underwoods within the limit of production restrictions;
- 5 And of course no limitations whatsoever have been imposed upon Underwood Elliott Fisher's coast-to-coast maintenance service-which, in fact, now becomes all the more important to the preservation of your present Underwoods.

Whatever your typewriter requirements, Underwood Elliott Fisher is confident it can fill them satisfactorily within the strictest observance of both the letter and the spirit of the new regulations.

It will welcome your inquiry as to how that may best be done:

Midway Survivor Tells Epic of Jap Defeat

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN
PEARL HARBOR (AP)—The first eyewitness account of the battle of Midway came Monday from a naval aviator who, floating in the sea, saw a line of burning Japanese ships pass by. The sailor's story was revealed by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the United States Pacific Fleet.

From a 25-year-old torpedo plane pilot of the Pacific fleet came one of the most amazing eyewitness accounts of a major naval engagement in the history of sea warfare.

The pilot had what veteran naval officers termed "a fish eye view" of operations during an attack on three Japanese carriers participating in the battle of Midway. For he watched the havoc wrought when American dive-bombers and torpedo planes blasted at these huge targets—observing from the surface of the sea itself while clinging to his boat-bag and covering his head with a seat from his plane.

He covered his head to avoid detection. The pilot is Ensign G. H. Gay, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Gay of Houston, Texas.

Gay is recuperating today from minor wounds suffered when his squadron met heavy enemy fighter opposition while driving home a torpedo attack on one of the largest carriers in the enemy fleet early on June 4, the day the battle of Midway opened.

Only Gay of the crew of three survived the crash of his plane shortly after he launched a torpedo at a carrier of the Kaga class. What happened thereafter is a naval epic.

Taking off from his fleet carrier with his squadron, Gay approached the objective in mid-morning. Visibility was unlimited. Below lay three Japanese carriers, less than 10 miles extending between the first and last of the enemy ships, which were screened by a considerable force of cruisers and destroyers. Gay took stock of the astounding drama below him. Two Kaga class carriers had been taking on their aircraft. Another smaller carrier lay between them, also receiving planes that were fighting the far-flung battle of Midway.

One of the larger carriers already burned fiercely, while enemy cruisers and destroyers wheeled around it waiting to rescue personnel. Twenty minutes later the American dive-bombers rocketed into view.

In the face of terrific anti-aircraft fire and enemy fighter attack, the American planes leveled for the assault. Gay heard his machine-gunner say he had been hit. But the approach continued. Near the great Japanese carrier, Gay launched his projectile, then swung sharply over the target and sped astern as fast as his plane could carry him.

Plane Blasted, Pilot Wounded

Suddenly an explosive shell from a Zero fighter ripped through his torpedo plane's rudder controls. The detonation seared Gay's left leg. Almost simultaneously, a small bullet struck his upper left arm.

Coolly, Gay brought his heavy plane into a stall and pancaked into the sea several miles astern of the enemy carrier.

His gunner was dead, and in the emergency landing his radio was unable to pull free.

At 11 a.m. Gay, alone, watched the tail surfaces of his plane disappear. Now a bit of luck held with him. Out of the sinking wreckage floated the bag containing the deflated rubber liferaft—and a black cushion on which the bombardier kneels while working.

Gay figured his chances quickly and accurately. There had been reports of Japanese strafing helpless pilots bailing out by parachute, and of machine-gunning men in such liferafts as had floated clear of his own plane. Gay declined to offer himself as such a victim. He ducked under the cushion as enemy fighters swarmed overhead. Not knowing the extent of his wounds, he felt cautiously at his arm. The bullet, which apparently had struck him at the spent end of its trajectory, dropped out in his hand.

"For some reason," Gay recalled, "I put it in my mouth. Maybe I wanted a souvenir. Anyhow, I lost it before long."

He bandaged his injured leg under the water. Then from his fish-eye view at sea level, Gay saw other Jap carriers hit squarely by United States bombs.

Tremendous fires burst from these vessels. Great billows of smoke churned upward with the flames flaring from the apex in dark columns.

Internal explosions sent new gusts of smoke and fire belching from the carriers at intervals, he said.

As the Pacific fleet attack ended, the second Kaga class carrier was on fire from bow to stern.

Surface craft gave Gay some close brushes. One enemy destroyer appeared to be driving straight at him as she sped to aid a stricken carrier. He thought it would run him down, but at the last instant it swirled past him harmlessly.

A heavy cruiser steamed by less than 500 yards from him. Gay saw her crew lining the rail, their white uniforms gleaming against the battle paint, grimly watching the destruction of their force.

As the afternoon waned, the Japanese made frantic efforts to stem the damage. An enemy cruiser sought to stand alongside a crippled carrier, but seemed unable to approach close enough. Gay observed this vessel's big guns begin to rake the wounded carrier, presumably to scuttle her.

Some time later a destroyer managed to come alongside the still floating carrier to remove survivors. Overhead, Gay said, Japanese planes appeared to be circling in a vain attempt to land on the smashed carrier. They would pass above her, then soar out of sight and return.

Darkness fell, and he never learned what became of them. Gay inflated his life raft from his carbon-dioxide bottle. He said he had his fill of salt water.

Working calmly, the young pilot had to make emergency patches on several bullet-holes in the rubber boat before it would sustain him safely. He clambered in. The long night began.

Far to the north great glowing patches appeared in the sky. Gay thought these might have been the searchlights of Japanese rescue vessels seeking to pick up carrier personnel.

Slept for Time, Wakened By Blasts

There didn't seem to be much else to do, so he "tried to catch a few winks of sleep."

Toward morning, he was awakened from fitful slumber by three explosions which he believed may have been demolition charges.

Several hours after sun-up a navy patrol plane, on a search, spotted his rubber boat. Later the plane returned and picked up Gay.

Later a navy doctor asked him what treatment he had for his burns and he replied: "Well, I soaked 'em in salt water for 10 hours."

They headed back to the base. The surface of the battle area was littered with black Japanese life-rafts, presumably used by the enemy when they abandon ship. Great patches of oil floated on the debris-strewn sea, Gay said.

Gay reported that the one carrier of the Kaga class could be listed as a "certain loss," while the other two carriers were "probable." These were later pursued by American forces engaged in finishing off the crippled units of the Japanese fleet.

Gay's wounds are not serious.

Message to King

OTTAWA (CP)—Unanimously, members of the House of Commons Monday passed a resolution extending their "loyal and heartfelt greetings" to the King. Monday had been set aside for the official celebration of His Majesty's birthday in Canada.

The resolution, introduced by Prime Minister King and supported by Conservative House Leader Hanson, said the King's "calm courage, steadfast faith and active service have been an inspiration to your own peoples and those of other nations joined in the common struggle."

The resolution adopted, members joined in singing God Save the King.

LONDON (CP)—The Belgian government here states more persons have been executed by the Gestapo in Belgium in this war than were put to death by the Germans in the last war, when 250 fell before firing squads.

A government spokesman said the names of 83 persons executed, including three women and an 11-year-old child, have been published by the Nazis, but that "we know of many times this number."

Adjust Pay Set-up On Alaska Road

OTTAWA (CP)—The situation in the Yukon Territory arising from differences in wages rates paid to Canadian and American workers on the Alaska Highway is receiving the "sympathetic" consideration of the government, Labor Minister Mitchell told the House of Commons Monday in reply to a question from George Black, Conservative, Yukon.

Mr. Mitchell said a representative of the National War Labor Board might be sent to the Yukon to keep in touch with the situation.

An arrangement had been entered into with United States authorities whereby United States contractors on the highway would engage United States labor at United States prevailing rates and such wages would be subject only to United States taxation and other laws.

Canadian contractors would engage only Canadian labor and pay Canadian prevailing rates, such wages to be subject to Canadian laws.

The prime necessity was speed, Mr. Mitchell said, because the project was vitally important to the war effort, but it was also necessary to maintain the Canadian wage ceiling. It was the plan to have American workers assign part of their pay to be retained in the United States so they would not be receiving more actual cash on the job than the Canadian workers.

Road Contracts

OTTAWA (CP)—The Department of Mines and Resources has announced the names of seven companies awarded contracts for construction of a highway connecting Prince Rupert, B.C., with the British Columbia and Trans-Canada highway systems.

The new road will be built in eight sections, totaling 112 miles, the department said.

Those awarded contracts were: Ryan Construction Co. and General Construction Co., Vancouver; Rayner Construction Co., McNamara Construction Co., Standard Paving Co., Tomlinson Construction Co. and Dufferin Construction Co., Toronto.

Contract for one section of the road remains to be let. Distance to be constructed by each company and the amounts of the contracts have not been stated.

Mr. MacDonald was a bachelor. One of his brothers became a Senator for the State of Illinois and the other a contractor in Winnipeg. Both died several years ago.

10-YEAR SENTENCE FOR HANS GROS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Hans Helmut Gros, convicted German agent, faces 10 years in federal prison. His American-born wife, Frances, convicted with him, has asked probation and will receive a hearing next Monday.

Asked by federal Judge Ben Harrison Monday if he had anything to say, Gros said that all he had done was transfer his own money from Europe to America and send a few entirely harmless letters to relatives, and added that the confession Federal Bureau Investigation agents said he had made had been obtained under duress.

Gros was sentenced to 10 years on a charge of conspiring to get defence information to the German government, and five more for failing to register as a German agent, the terms to run concurrently.

F.B.I. men had testified that Gros said he came here under instructions from the late Reinhard Heydrich, Nazi Gestapo terrorist, to organize sabotage.

'Just the Beginning'

WE STAND AT THE PEAK OF HISTORY, the New Republic tells us, and in the same issue Max Werner, acknowledged as the best informed of military critics on the Russian front, warns that Kharkov is just the beginning of a chain of tenacious and protracted battles and that the big German offensive in the east has not yet started. He estimates that for this drive, Hitler is holding 10,000 to 12,000 tanks and 150 divisions in readiness, at the front and behind it.

Werner says that when the offensive comes it can only be an all-out offensive in which everything is hurled into the battle, in which everything is risked and from which there can be no way back. For this Hitler will need all his reserves and all his offensive arms, even the reserves he still holds in the west and the southeast in the Balkans.

Without huge and complete concentration of air forces on the Russian front, the German army cannot risk launching a decisive offensive. Hitler will need all the aircraft he can muster and even then it is questionable whether the German army will have the necessary air superiority demanded of it. This confronts the Nazi air force with a complex problem. The mounting pressure of the R.A.F. in the west has now established as a fact for Germany the two-front war in the air, making it highly dangerous to strip western Europe and western Germany of air force.

However, by ruthlessly using all their forces, Werner believes the Nazis are still likely to achieve considerable initial successes in the east. But the outcome of this campaign is not going to be determined by its initial, but by its final, phase. The final success will be scored by the one who can hold out longer and exert the greater and more tenacious military effort. Hitherto, it has been the forces of the Red Army which have shown greater endurance and Soviet strategy which has shown more far-sighted planning.

New Zealand's 'All Out'

NEW ZEALAND IS A SMALL COUNTRY, but there is nothing small about the way its people have thrown themselves into the war.

Hon. Walter Nash, New Zealand's Minister to the United States, has been giving Canadian parliamentarians at Ottawa some details. With a population of only 1,641,000, New Zealand has 293,000 of her men in war service, including 45,000 who have gone overseas. Every male between 18 and 41, who is single and fit goes without exemption into one of the services; every married man between 18 and 31, if fit, must take military training; every male between 18 and 61 must qualify for some form of national service. More than 60,000 women are in auxiliary service at home or abroad. Every person who can is required to do something towards defence, but compulsion is not necessary in 95 per cent of the cases. Despite the drain of the services on manpower, production by volume increased by over 9 per cent in 1941. Out of a national income of £220,000,000, expenditure on the war and social security program takes £133,000,000.

Among English-speaking countries, New Zealand has set the pace in the matter of social legislation. Since the war there has been no compromising in her policies in this respect. Mr. Nash said the social legislation, including health and disability insurance, family allowances, pensions for widows, aged and other handicapped groups, care for the aged for what they have created, care of the young for the future, care of the ailing because they cannot care for themselves, has been a strong foundation for her war effort. He is confident it will be a similar factor in her postwar recovery.

In her war policy, New Zealand has established these principles: No man or woman shall be the worse off because he or she goes to fight for their country; none shall be better off because he or she stays at home. Such measures, Mr. Nash said, have developed a community sense of obligation which is far-reaching. Undoubtedly, they are important factors in maintaining the people's morale and fighting powers.

Altogether there is no room for doubt that New Zealand feels that everything is at stake in this war and is acting accordingly.

Scare Talk

MR. HOWE NOW TELLS PARLIAMENT that such "draconian measures" as he announced a couple of weeks ago to restrict or stop altogether the use of fuel oil in houses, might not be necessary.

The boys at Ottawa ought to get together and decide on what is really necessary, instead of issuing scare announcements which later prove to be unwarranted.

The public is willing, Mr. Howe said, to do anything essential in furthering the war effort. That willingness should not be abused by loose talking on the part of responsible officials.

Reprisals and Hostages

DAY AFTER DAY AND NIGHT AFTER NIGHT, the R.A.F. is blasting German communities off the face of the earth. Extent of such blasting is limited only by the physical limitations of the R.A.F. itself. As the R.A.F. increases in strength, and when the United States Air Corps takes its place over there, the blows will be doubled and redoubled.

It seems unwise, therefore, to suggest that we should take time out from the bombing of great military objectives, to concentrate on a reprisal bombing of "a small, undefended German village" as urged by Dorothy Thompson as a means of inducing the Germans to stop shooting hostages.

But there is another and even more convincing reason why the United Nations would be unwise to enter the field of deliberate reprisals. In the war the wise general is the one who picks his own battlefields and his own weapons. It would be impossible for us to compete in effectiveness with Hitler in the mass murder of innocent civilians. The only reprisals in this or any other war, which really are justified are those which accomplish some good purpose. If anyone is able to figure out a scheme to curb the Nazis' inclination for murder, it deserves the attention of our leaders. But there is not the slightest indication in the suggestion that the reprisals would have the desired effect.

Miss Thompson's proposal is in an altogether different category from that of Mr. Churchill, who told all the world that the use of poison gas by the Germans would immediately result in use of poison gas by the British on Germany itself. The German people now know in advance what the consequences of their evil action will be.

'Unreasonable'

SUMMER BUS SCHEDULE TO CORBOVA

Bay this year is disallowed by the transport controller. Many Victorians own summer places at the Bay and they naturally desire to occupy them during vacation, especially this year when all are being urged to vacation near home. These people are also desirous of saving gasoline and tires. If the normal summer bus service were in effect, most of them could, and would, use the bus instead of their cars. Curtailment of bus service will force many to keep their cars on the road to the limit of their gasoline allowance.

The transport ruling in this instance does not appear to have been thought out on the basis of conservation. It seems as shortsighted as the ruling removing West Vancouver buses, thereby compelling residents in that otherwise isolated area to rely on their private cars. It is not surprising the citizens there have protested that the "whole thing is unreasonable."

Notes

If we use a little horse sense with our horse power, gasoline rationing shouldn't bother us.

Collection of all income tax at the source, that is by deduction from pay cheques as is now done with the national defence tax, is reported under consideration at Ottawa. It seems a logical step to take. The system of defence tax collection has worked well. With income taxes on the rise, it is easier for the taxpayer to pay as he goes than to have to meet his full payment at the end of the year. Besides, it is in line with the policy of discouraging spending.

CONSCRIPTION SHOWDOWN

From Winnipeg Free Press

The voting in the plebiscite was not an instruction to Parliament and the government to proceed immediately and drastically with the application of compulsion for overseas service. Those who hold this view, if they were able to give effect to it, would make impossible the reuniting of all Canadians on the issue of an all-out effort which it should be the aim of all sensible Canadians to bring about.

The plebiscite was an instruction to Parliament to make it possible for the responsible authorities to apply compulsion without limit when this becomes necessary for the defence of the country. To represent it as anything less than this is to refuse to see the question in its true light. It is as dangerous as the verdict of the people should be underestimated as that it should be given an edge and purpose that it does not in fact possess.

The amendment of the Mobilization Act will make compulsion the universal law; but the time and the extent of its application for overseas service remains within the judgment of the government.

This means that the principle of compulsion will be passed on finally by Parliament when it deals with the measure now before it. There will be no room for any suggestion that the question will have to be remitted to Parliament for further consideration. Any possibility that an argument to this effect would have elements of plausibility has been removed by the course the Quebec opposition is taking. They have demanded that Parliament shall here and now decide for or against complete compulsion. Their demand will be met.

Those who are opposed to this change in the law—that is to say those who knowingly or in ignorance would prefer defeat to supplying themselves with the ultimate weapons for victory—will have an opportunity in Parliament to give their reasons for holding these remarkable views. In their effort to block the amendment of the Mobilization Act they will be defeated—unless they get indirect help from unexpected quarters; and the question as to whether Canada can exercise full powers of compulsion in protection of her national existence will be settled not for this war alone, but for all time.

TYCOON AND STOKER

NOT LONG AGO I happened to fall in with a jolly company of Wall Street tycoons, with whom I felt quite at home, having at that time $1.78 in my pocket and being able to sympathize with the new poor. It was a human gathering which entertained a group of British sailors off some warship. And I shall never forget the little red-haired stoker from Glasgow, not five feet high, with a face like a walnut who sat before his dinner all evening, leaving it untouched, and sang one song after another in endless chant—all the popular songs of this time and of the last 20 years.

Presently the tycoons joined in with him, after a reasonable lubrication, and shortly the tough little sailorman from Glasgow had his arms around the neck of a leading American banker and both were putting everything they had into "Shine On, Harvest Moon!" When I left the gathering to enter a New York blackout, one of the chief figures in Wall Street was clutching the stoker to his breast and saying over and over again: "I like you a lot, Scottie, I like you a lot." The stoker looked at him with glazed eyes and kept on singing.

The last thing I heard the tycoon say was: "Wait till we get back to normal again, my boy."

NO RETURN

THAT WAS THE PHRASE which sent me out into the night with a chill down my spine—wait until we get back to normal. It is this expectation which, if it succeeds, will make a mockery of all our present dreams and the sacrifices of brave men.

There is little chance, of course, that Wall Street will get back to what it considers normal, at least for some time. We shall probably not see the Bull Market of 1929 and then the interesting spectacle of brokers hurrying themselves out of 20th story windows because of certain absurd figures on the ticker tapes.

Unfortunately for the whole mechanism which Wall Street represents—the investment of private funds in private business—has been succeeded, for the present anyway, by huge government investment, which provides no gravy for the gentlemen who sell stocks. And this substitution of the state for the private investor is likely to last quite a while.

But I was thinking of much more than Wall Street when the tycoon talked about getting back to normal. I was thinking not of the rich but of the ordinary Americans and, for that matter, of ordinary Canadians. What do they regard as normal? What do they want of life?

Until that is decided it is only drawing diagrams to talk about the future shape of the world. The world can be built ultimately only on the living ways of the people and if the people's living ways are cockeyed the social system will be also. If the people's desires, ambitions and wants are unsound and unhealthy we shall have an unsound and unhealthy civilization.

GOODS

THE DEMAND, appetite and obsession of North America is for goods and many of them the wrong goods—so wrong that there are more automobiles by far than bath tubs throughout this Continent and millions of people who own cars do not own homes, or they have radios while not getting the right things to eat.

There is no doubt now that the demand can be fulfilled. The miracle of producing goods for everyone is almost accomplished. The physical means of doing it have been discovered in the scientific processes of our time and the economic and political means will also be found, if we have even an atom of common sense. But does that end the process, solve the question, answer the riddle? Does that mean that the perfect society at last has been evolved?

Of course, those who have lacked goods. In the past, who have been the victims of a blind and rotten social system, will answer that we must take things by stages, and that the first stage is the provision of the people's physical needs. After we have got two cars in every garage and two chickens in every pot we may begin to discuss metaphysics. There will be no chance for them while there is only a car without tires or gas in the garage and only stewing beef in the pot.

NO ANSWER

THIS IS A VERY NATURAL reaction and yet to the thoughtful man there is no ultimate solution in the merely physical process of producing all the goods the people want. Anyone who cared to look at it before the war could see that American society was not a happy society, though it had attained a living standard never approached before. There was every evidence to indicate that American society was far less happy than the poorer society of England or of France.

There was, on the contrary, every evidence to suggest that as goods increased restlessness and discontent increased also so that in Hollywood, where wealth reached its ultimate flowering, men were not even satisfied with their wives for more than a few weeks and traded them in regularly with their limousines.

Something more than politics is required, something more than economics and blue-prints of the brave new world, if the world is to be any happier than it was before. An idea is needed, I suppose, a kind of dream which men will follow. But at the moment tycoons are embracing stokers and promising them a return to normal.

It's hard to figure Hitler restoring those generals, unless he's had an intuition about his intentions.

North Pacific—Strategic Area

From CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

The North Pacific has become the latest theatre of war. Air transport has overcome the communication difficulties imposed by geographic and climatic characteristics of the region, with the result that, from a strategic view point, the area composed of Alaska, north-east Siberia and the islands in the sea of Okhotsk and the Behring Sea has become of very great importance.

In the most northerly part of the region, Asia and North America may almost be said to touch; they are separated only by the 54-mile width of Behring Strait, frozen ordinarily from October to June. The east side of the Strait is Alaska, the west, Siberia. In the Strait itself, and only 8 miles apart, lie Big Diomed and Little Diomed Islands. Big Diomed is Russian, Little Diomed belongs to the United States.

The southern end of the Strait opens into Behring Sea, which, extending between north-east Siberia and the west coast of Alaska, is separated from the North Pacific by the Alaskan Peninsula. Like a long finger, this peninsula points towards Asia from the south-eastern Alaska mainland. From the tip of the finger, the American-owned Aleutian Islands extend in a long chain a good part of the remaining distance to Kamchatka. A part of Siberia, Kamchatka is a peninsula jutting south-east between the Behring Sea and the Sea of Okhotsk. Between the southern tip of the peninsula and Japan, the Kurile Islands, Japanese-owned, form a chain across the entrance from the Pacific to the Sea of Okhotsk. South and east again lies the Sea of Japan, cut off from the Pacific by the barrier formed by Japan itself and Sakhalin Island. The latter is a long narrow island stretching north from Japan to the western shore of the Sea of Okhotsk. The northern half of the island is Russian, the southern half Japanese. On the Russian shore of the Sea of Japan lies Vladivostok, main base of the Soviet Far Eastern forces. Although Vladivostok is also Eastern Russia's main seaport, access to the Pacific lies only through Japanese controlled waters since the main shipping routes pass between the Kurile Islands.

In a sense, therefore, Japan may be said to be menaced from two sides, although while the Russo-Japanese neutrality pact remains effective the danger from Russia is potential rather than actual. Geographically, Alaska appears well-situated as a spring-board for attacks on Japan, while Tokyo is well within the range of bombers based on Vladivostok and other Soviet Far Eastern bases.

In Alaska, work on existing and on new naval and air bases is being carried on at top speed. Details are naturally lacking, but it has been stated that a number of the new bases are usable though unfinished. On the mainland the army has air bases at Fairbanks and Anchorage, where runways can reportedly accommodate four-engine bombers. In the Aleutian Islands there are bases at Kodiak, Dutch Harbor and Kiska. Dutch Harbor is the main base in the islands. Down the coast towards Prince Rupert there is a base at Sitka, in the Alexander Archipelago.

The following table gives distances between the Alaska bases and potential Japanese targets:

	Miles
Dutch Harbor to Tokyo	2,580
Dutch Harbor to Paramushiro	1,624
Kiska to Tokyo	2,090
Kiska to Karafuto	1,569
Kiska to Hakodate	1,852
Kiska to Nagasaki	2,722
(Paramushiro is in the Kurile group, Karafuto in the Japanese half of Sakhalin Island, Hakodate is in Japan proper).
Distances between Russian and Japanese centres are as follows:
Vladivostok to Tokyo	700
Vladivostok to Karafuto	577
Vladivostok to Hakodate	467
Vladivostok to Paramushiro	1,182
Nikolaevsk to Paramushiro	635

Both Alaska and the Soviet Far East suffer from one great disadvantage as defensive or offensive bases however; both must depend in very great degree on distant sources for supplies and reinforcements. Alaska's 586,000 square miles contains only about 73,000 inhabitants, of whom about half are of the white race. Yet even this meagre population is dependent to a great degree on imported food, while practically all manufactured goods must be brought in from outside. Obviously, any increase in military establishment would mean correspondingly increased dependence on communication lines to the United States. Until the Alaska Highway is completed, supplies must come by relatively vulnerable sea-routes, except for such quantities as can be transported by air. Air transport will be greatly facilitated by the chain of Canadian air bases which link United States production centres with Alaskan outposts.

In the Soviet Far East there is the same dependence on supply lines. While efforts have been made in recent years to increase food production in the area, it is reported that self-sufficiency for military and civilian needs has not yet been achieved. The government is reported to have built up stocks of military supplies in Vladivostok, but it is not known whether these would suffice for a large-scale campaign. The main link with Western Russia, the Trans-Siberian Railway, as well as complementary road and river routes, all run in places, very close to the Manchukuo frontier, and would be quite vulnerable to Japanese attack. As indicated above, supply routes from the Pacific must pass through waters dominated by the Japanese.

A Japanese campaign in the North Pacific area would not face the same difficulties in regard to supplies as would the forces of the United Nations, since communications with production centres at home would be shorter and more direct. On the other hand, it is contended that this advantage is more than offset by the extreme vulnerability of Japan to air attack, owing to her dense population and the concentrated nature of her industrial centres.

German birth figures for last year confirm the evidence of previous years that Hitler has attained a considerable degree of success with his campaign to increase the birth rate. They show, indeed, some small decline as compared with 1940, but the fact remains that last year's total of 1,528,000 births in the Reich (including Austria, the Sudetenland and Danzig) represents an increase of over 400,000 on the number born in the same territories in the year of Hitler's advent to power.

TANAKA'S DISCIPLE

From Winnipeg Free Press.

William P. Simms, an American writer with special knowledge of East Asian matters, undertakes in an article in the Scripps-Howard newspapers, to explain the "otherwise almost incomprehensible war between Japan and the United States." Premier Tojo, he says, has been one of the moving spirits for many years in the Black Dragon Society, the secret army organization which over a long period of time has instigated assassinations at home and aggression abroad. The purpose of the Society is to give effect to the plans of aggrandizement set out in the Tanaka memorial, the scope of which was published in these columns the other day. Mr. Simms says:

"Premier Tojo served under the late General Tanaka and is said to have been one of the Baron's favorite disciples. As such, I am informed, he helped frame the 'memorial,' the general terms of which he has devoted many years to carrying out."

It is to be presumed that, if this background to Tojo's political career had been known to the United States government, it would have interpreted his promotion to the premiership as a declaration of war and acted accordingly. The replacing of

Girl's Abnormal Arm Not To Be Amputated

SEATTLE (AP)—There was joyful relief in the heart of 11-year-old Patricia Hudson's mother today because the state's highest court ruled that a judge could not, over the mother's protest, order amputation of the girl's grossly distorted arm.

Patricia, pawn in the family tragedy, remained in the Children's Hospital, where she has been under observation for several months in anticipation of the risky operation which a Juvenile Court judge had ordered, pending Supreme Court approval.

She was not told Monday night that the Supreme Court had held, in a 6 to 3 decision, that a court could not overrule the parents' wish as long as the parents' right to custody of the child was not challenged.

Medical testimony in the case told of Patricia's distorted, dangling arm being 10 times the weight of the other, possibly equal to the weight of her body.

Doctors testified before Juvenile Judge William Long that the girl would have a 50-50 chance of surviving an operation. They also said the girl's health—and possibly her life—might be in jeopardy if no surgical action were taken.

Patricia is one of nine children. Her brothers and sisters expressed the wish for an amputation in the hope of curing what they said was a fearful self-consciousness. Patricia likewise favored the surgical gamble.

The father, Claude Hudson, 58-year-old invalid, was willing to leave the decision to the court. The mother was adamant in her opposition, expressing confidence that some way, somehow, medical relief for her daughter would be found without placing her life in jeopardy.

The girl was born with an abnormally large arm, and the condition has become aggravated with her growth. Doctors fear continuance of the condition will bring a spinal curvature.

Recruit Nurses' Army For War Service Here and Abroad

By MARGARET ECKER

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—An army of volunteer nurses soon will be ready to aid stricken people in the event of a major wartime catastrophe—air raid, invasion or epidemic.

More than 6,000 women and girls are to be recruited immediately for membership in voluntary aid detachments. The campaign for "V.A.D.s" will be carried out across Canada by the St. John Ambulance Association and Brigade in co-operation with the Canadian Red Cross Society.

The volunteers will be trained as quickly as possible to reinforce the nursing staffs of civilian and military hospitals. Others will be part of a mobile unit ready to go on short notice any place they are needed.

Some V.A.D.s will have an opportunity to go overseas attached to the Canadian army, but most will serve at home. Those serving with the army will come under control of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps.

UNDER ARMY REGULATIONS

Regulations regarding the army section of the V.A.D. were made public today. They describe a V.A.D. as: "A member of the nursing division of the St. John Ambulance Brigade or the Nursing Auxiliary Canadian Red Cross Corps, who has completed a period of probation with the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps."

The St. John organization will give these volunteers courses in home nursing and first aid before they are eligible for training in either civilian or military hospitals.

V.A.D.s will rank immediately after members of the R.C.A.M.C. nursing service and will be subject to discipline of the matron and members of the R.C.A.M.C. nursing service.

Those eligible for the V.A.D. corps serving with the Canadian army must have their first aid and home nursing certificates, be British subjects between 21 and 40 years of age, be of medical category A or B and have no dependent children.

There is a possibility that women over 40 years of age, if physically fit, will be accepted in civilian hospitals.

V.A.D.s will serve for the duration, unless discharged for misconduct, infringement of regulations, or medical unfitness, or are released on compassionate grounds.

MAY MARRY AFTER YEAR'S SERVICE

V.A.D.s in the army will not be allowed to marry until they have had a year's service and then they must obtain official permission from the director-general of medical services. The girls will receive free medical and dental attention and hospitalization while serving in Canada. Rates of pay for girls serving outside Canada will be changed from time to time, but will not exceed $3 a day.

V.A.D.s in Canada will receive $10 a month to cover incidental expenses plus $5 a month for laundry if laundry cannot be done in the hospital. When a volunteer has completed her probationary term she will receive $100 outfit allowance, with an additional $50 after a year's service. While on duty she will be provided with traveling and transportation expenses.

China Medical Aid Plan Clothes Sale

A sale of new and good garments, reasonably priced, will be held by the Committee for Medical Aid for China Saturday at 737 Pandora Avenue.

At a meeting of the committee Saturday at 1684 Yale Street the hope was expressed that intending donors to the Women's Canadian Club A.R.P. cache and British Bundles workers would support the undertaking.

The treasurer's report showed $1,554 had been sent to Madame Sun Yat-sen in Chungking for the account of the China Defence League since the last general meeting, Jan. 24, that the average monthly collection from boxes in Chinese stores had increased to $117, including Nanaimo and Port Alberni, and that revenue totaled $302.28.

A cable from Soong Ching-ling (Madame Sun Yat-sen) expressing deep appreciation of remittances and appealing for continued efforts to maintain the International Peace Hospitals was read by the secretary, also extracts from a New York letter showing the incomparable conditions of misery among Chinese wounded. In spite of tireless efforts, it had not been possible to find a way of sending supplies to China for the International Peace Hospitals, but it was stated that every avenue of approach would still be explored in order to achieve this.

It was decided that bandages now held ready should be sent to Russia, as well as several afghans and blankets; it being understood that freight would be free. The committee decided to begin bandage rolling again. Bandages, blankets and clothing will all be available for A.R.P. call in case of emergency. Eight blankets were made for Y.M.C.A. soldiers' cots, 10 more are being completed, and many other orders are being filled.

BLACKOUT SANDWICHES

Emergency Food For Hungry Families

ALL the family will praise your sandwiches if you will just avoid "flat taste" by the addition of H. P. Sauce. This is the secret to appetizing sandwiches.

"Blackout" Sandwiches are the latest wartime "newie". To make them, whip together 1/2 lb. of cream cheese with 1 tablespoon of H. P. Sauce and 1/2 tablespoon of horseradish; then saute a 3 1/2 oz. can of chopped beef and a tablespoon of butter until fried. Break up fine and add to cheese mixture. Spread on buttered brown bread.

H. P. is a fine old English type, thick, fruity sauce. It is economical because it is concentrated. Try it on meat, fish, fowl, salads, soups, stews, etc. You'll be surprised at the wonderful flavour it gives foods.

Woman Mayor Helps Rebuild Russian City After Devastation

KALININ, Russia (AP)—The city of Kalinin, which was a battlefield during two months of the bitter winter fighting, now is a scene of devastation equal to anything in France during the First Great War, although the front today is some 70 miles to the west.

Kalinin, northwest of Moscow, is more preoccupied with healing the wounds of the winter struggle than in watching the new engagements in the west, centred around a deep spearhead thrust into the German positions and threatening their communications.

Confident the Germans never will come here again, the municipal government, headed by a woman mayor, Varyara Mikhailovna Gorbunova, is carrying out plans for restoration.

The people are pouring back over muddy roads and flooded lowlands to their ruined homes. The population, which was 225,000 before the war, dropped to 15,000 during the German occupation and now has risen to 170,000 since the Nazis were driven out on Dec. 12. The retreating Germans burned almost all that was not wrecked by bombs and shells.

FORMER TEXTILE WORKER

The mayor is a vigorous, 44-year-old former textile worker. She wears a mannish blue suit and has close-cut blonde hair. When she returned to the city she found only 1,630 dwellings of the original 11,033 intact.

"The city was dead," she said. "There was no water, streetcars or utilities of any kind. Now 25 miles of the original 30 miles of water lines and sewage system are restored. Two hospitals have been repaired and 15 schools are open for three shifts a day."

A preliminary allotment of 5,700,000 rubles was made for restoration of homes. The mayor estimated the eventual cost of rebuilding Kalinin at 177,000,000 rubles. She said 95 per cent of Kalinin's textile industry had been destroyed by the Germans.

The giant Proletarka plant, which employed 40,000 workers, is largely a mass of brick rubble, twisted machinery and charred walls open to the skies. On the ground floor of one wing a few women were patiently operating shuttles while the rain leaked through the ceiling.

Just outside the city was the ruin of a schoolhouse where the Red Army finally halted the Germans before driving them back in a struggle between Oct. 14 and Dec. 16. Atop the school was a hooded figure. The mayor said he was a lookout to see that the Germans never come back.

Wartime Dress Economy Reduces Pleats, Skirts

War-time food and clothing conservation measures provided two of the most interesting topics of discussion at the meeting of the National Council of Women held in Montreal, reports Mrs. Paul Smith, who has just returned to Victoria after representing four B.C. local councils at the sessions. They were Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster and North Vancouver.

For the first time the National Council featured a fashion show. Under the direction of Mr. J. A. Klein, administrator of women's and misses' clothing for the War-time Prices and Trade Board, a display of dresses was given, this contrasting the fashions of the moment with those which must come in the immediate future in view of the government requirements for the conservation of cloth. The general effect was a contrast between fullness and less fullness, between ample yardage and lessened yardage.

"Pleated skirts will still be worn, but with shallower pleats, and evening skirts which have been very full will be very much reduced in width. Cloth over cloth is out," reports Mrs. Smith in recalling the trend of Mr. Klein's remarks.

National Council delegates' keen interest in the control of materials and food right down to the point of "bare necessities," was shown in the lively discussion which followed Mr. Klein's 90-minute talk and fashion show.

BUDGETING BEEF

On her way back to Victoria Mrs. Smith, who is chairman of the B.C. Women's Regional Advisory committee of the War-time Prices and Trade Board, stopped off in Vancouver to attend a meeting of the committee. The

The B.C. women's regional advisory committee is divided into two parts, with headquarters in Vancouver and Victoria. Next week a new office for the women's advisory committee here will be opened in the Central Building, and the first meeting of the committee will be held the same afternoon. The committee includes the B.C. Regional chairman, Mrs. Paul Smith; Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, B.C. Regional chairman for the Women's Canadian club; Dr. Olga Jardine, president Provincial Council of Women; Miss Bertha Rogers, of the Provincial Home Economics Association; Miss Margaret Clay, of the Provincial Library Association; Mrs. Madge Hall, of the Business and Professional Women's club; Mrs. J. P. Leeming, of Duncan, provincial president of the Parent-Teachers' Association. One or two additional members will be added.

Mrs. Smith will make her report as delegate to the National Council at the September meetings of the four B.C. local councils which she represented at Montreal.

'Khaki-Mad' Girls Increase Problem

LONDON (CP)—Juvenile delinquency has hit a new high in London where children's laughter echoes through the streets just a year from the time when girls and boys were a rare sight in the capital.

Raid-free nights and warmer weather have brought the children from the country and evacuation centres to their city homes. It has been estimated unofficially that there are 180,000 youngsters here with 1,500 arriving weekly.

Meanwhile, police report that a steady stream of youngsters are appearing in court. On one day alone 60 cases were heard.

"One disturbing feature is the large number of girls coming before the court," said Eileen Younghusband, chairman of the West London Juvenile Court. "They are turning to larceny and to breaking and entering. There is a new temptation for them to break into evacuated homes or to wander among bombed buildings, unaware that looting is a crime."

Canadian Airwomen Excel Men in Radio Location

NEW YORK (CP)—Members of the R.C.A.F. (Women's Division), by releasing men for more active flying tasks, are helping make possible the 1,000-plane raids over Germany. Wing Officer Lillian Marguerite Crowther told interviewers here today.

And if anyone should be qualified to speak on this subject, it's Wing Officer Crowther, one of the organizers of the Canadian group and Britain's Women's Auxiliary Air Force. She arrived here Monday from Ottawa, D.C., Thursday and then return to Ottawa.

"The women in Canada have taken to the program wholeheartedly," she said. "They've replaced men in 26 trades and in every one they're doing just as well as the men did. In fact, in jobs where great patience is required, such as in radio location, I think they're doing an even better job."

Before leaving London for Ottawa, she helped direct the work of the W.A.A.F. during the Battle of Britain and had "one or two close calls" once when a Nazi plane crashed in the next block to her.

"There are lots of chances for promotion in the women's division of the R.C.A.F.," she said. "Wonderful opportunities for any one who really wants to help her country."

Widen Religious Facilities

TORONTO — The United Church of Canada has taken a definite step to assist in the providing of adequate religious services and pastoral oversight of civilians in proximity to military training centres and in those new communities where there has been an influx of population to do industrial war work.

Appointment of Miss Verda Ullman, a graduate of the United Church Training School, to conduct a survey in these areas and in the main ports where merchant seamen come and go and in rural communities weakened by the loss of population due to enlistments and demands of war industries, was announced today by Rev. Dr. Gordon A. Sisco, General Secretary of the United Church of Canada, who is also chairman of a committee set up by the Executive of General Council to supervise this work.

Selection of a director who will supervise the work in the above-mentioned areas in co-operation with local groups, is now under way and there may be an appointment made within two or three weeks, Dr. Sisco said. Miss Ullman's first duties will be to travel throughout Canada in the areas under special consideration and the information she gains will guide the activities of the committee. Her salary will be paid by the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church.

Work of the newly-created committee will also be directed toward those cities where new housing areas have sprung up and where it is not possible for local churches to assume this added responsibility of full pastoral oversight.

The Friendly Bridge Club held a bridge luncheon in Spencer's dining-room Saturday afternoon to mark the close of the season. Present were Mesdames W. McClague, M. McGovern, E. Maggs, L. Grey, C. Kerr, G. Rumball, R. Heater and A. Clyde. The proceeds were given to the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

Oak Bay Council

Plan to Clean Water Mains

The Oak Bay Council Monday endorsed pioneer work of the municipal engineering department in two fields—cleaning of water mains and the preparation of pre-mix "Tarvia" rather than pre-mix asphalt.

The council approved a contract with the National Water Main Cleaning Company of New York to have cleaned at the rate of 15 cents per foot 11,190 feet of water main. The municipality is believed to be the first west of the Rockies to attempt to have water mains cleaned rather than replaced.

The pipes will be cleaned by a machine which is inserted into the main. Pushed forward by the pressure of the running water, the device scrapes all scale and dirt from the walls of the pipe. Total cost of the cleaning program will be approximately $2,500, allowing $800 for cutting and repairing the mains.

In order to cover the total cost of the program, which exceeds by $350 the amount set aside in the budget, the council transferred $350 from the sidewalk appropriation.

The council referred to the A.R.P. head a letter from W. C. Mainwaring of the advisory council, provincial civilian protection committee, informing the council neither the provincial nor Dominion governments will contribute to building permanent or emergency air raid shelters.

"Open ditches," the letter said, "have been proven to provide excellent shelter from both concussion and flying materials when high explosive bombs are used, and these can be constructed at very small cost in many areas."

It is entirely the responsibility of the local committee. "Although the federal government has the power under the Defence of Canada Regulations to commandeer any desirable premises for the purpose of emergency air raid shelters, it is their desire that local committees secure these premises, if possible, on a voluntary basis."

Don't be the missing man.

MOBILE RESERVE GUNNERS NEEDED

A chance to defend Victoria in the most practical way if the need arises, at the breach of a field gun or at the wheel of the "jeep" that hauls it, is offered men between the ages of 17 and 50, not eligible for the active army by a call for recruits issued by the 203rd (Reserve) Field Battery, R.C.A.

This Victoria unit, formerly the 58th (Reserve) Field Battery is now being recruited up to full strength and applicants should telephone E 4103, asking for local 203rd Battery.

Commanded by Capt. R. L. Challoner who won a Military Cross in the first Great War the Victoria battery is one of the three forming the newly-created 39th Field Regiment, R.C.A., with headquarters in Vancouver.

It is a highly mobile unit, all guns being moved by motor vehicles or gun tractors, the personnel being transported by its own motor vehicles.

Complete practical training from experienced instructors will be given recruits, all the comradeship of the army will be available and in a short time after enlistment members become valuable units in the defence mechanism of this district.

Mechanics Wanted For R.A.S.C. Unit

Automobile mechanics and electricians are needed for the new reserve unit of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps now in process of formation, applicants being invited to attend the Bay Street Armories at 8 tonight.

The new unit, which gives those qualified an opportunity to respond to the appeal of Maj. Gen. R. O. Alexander, G.O.C.-in-chief, for men for the Reserve Army, will be attached to the 13th Field Ambulance R.C.A.M.C., another Victoria reserve unit, whose trucks and ambulances it will service, maintain and operate.

Training will be given recruits two nights weekly.

Chrysanthemum Society

Alderman Charles Jones, president of the Vancouver and District Chrysanthemum Society, in an address to the Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society at their last monthly meeting at the City Hall, emphasized attention to details was necessary to get good chrysanthemums.

He said he knew of no other flower which responded to careful attention and treatment as did the chrysanthemum. He demonstrated his method of potting into eight-inch pots.

Although he said he favored the use of animal manures, Alderman Jones suggested it was more satisfactory to use weak liquid manures often than heavy doses spasmodically. Soot water was beneficial if given in weak solution at intervals of a week or 10 days, he said.

Edward V. yte moved a vote of thanks.

By PETE SALLAWAY

IT HAPPENED one night. We refer to the surprise setbacks suffered by the Victoria Machinery Depot senior ball club and the James Bay box lacrosse outfit. Saturday night these two clubs put their undefeated records on the line and, blooey, both bit the dust. Strange part of it all was that both defeats came from unexpected sources.

V.M.D. were rated just about a cinch to knock over the Pat Bay Flyers. The shipyards were so confident they elected to give young Bill Arts his first starting assignment. He lasted until the sixth. The shipbuilders then put in a rush call for Ralph Morgan but the big right-hander got just as warm a reception as Arts and received official charge for the defeat. The setback should do the V.M.D. good by making them realize they are not going to have everything their own way. In going down to their first setback the Bays box lac squad was clearly outplayed and outpassed all the way. The youngsters had too much on the ball for the champions.

As a matter of fact, defeat of the two leaders will do both sports a lot of good. We are certain the officials of the circuits were chuckling with glee to see the top dogs go under. The baseball and box lac campaigns were threatening to become run-arounds and that is not good for fan interest.

They are telling an interesting story about Harry Cooper in the recent United States professional golf championship. It appears Cooper had a negro caddy named Nelson Johnson.

In his tense quarterfinal with Byron Nelson, Cooper became upset at some mistake he believed the caddy had made.

"Nelson," he exploded, crossing the road for the 37th and first extra hole, "you are a lunkhead and no good fool."

Byron Nelson was walking alongside of Cooper, and the outburst even jarred the golfing automaton.

"Were you talking to me, Harry?" he asked, puzzled at the show of temper and entire lack of decorum.

Light-horse Harry Cooper, of course, hastily assured his opponent that he was addressing his remarks to another Nelson—of somewhat lesser stature.

Nelson and Jimmy Demaret agree that there is no such thing as nerves in golf.

"If there were any pressure on me when I missed the two-foot putt which enabled Corp. Jimmy Turnesa to pull up even at the 36th, I wasn't aware of it in the slightest," explains Nelson.

"When my drive went out of bounds on the 27th hole, I was trying to keep the ball to the right. It hit a tree and bounced out. The ball might have ricocheted the other way, giving me a clear shot to the green."

"You either do or you don't in this game. Of course, the element of luck is there, but you'll get the breaks in the long run if you keep hitting your shots correctly."

Against Sam Snead, Demaret played as well as ever did, but putts simply wouldn't fall for him.

Nelson calls Corporal Turnesa the finest putter he ever saw. Like Willie Turnesa the year he bagged the United States Amateur, the sixth of seven brothers also, excelled at getting out of trouble. While he appeared to be the most nervous player in the tournament, the lad from the Medical Corps was the steadiest.

A little fellow—he weighs no more than 140 pounds—Corporal Turnesa is built from the waist up. He has a beautiful upright swing and a fine pair of hands.

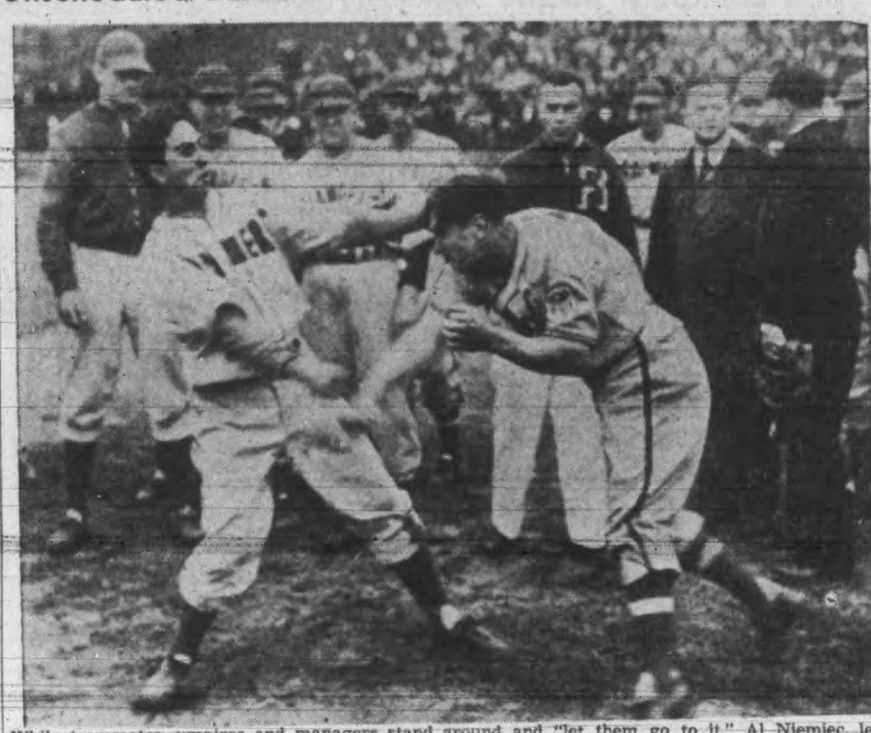

Corporal Turnesa didn't do a bad job in pressing Sam Snead after eliminating Dutch Harrison, Jug McSpaden, Ben Hogan and Nelson.

You could have had 1 to 100 that Corporal Turnesa would not have reached the final, but there he was.

Snead is about to be inducted into the United States Navy, and Corporal Turnesa let his opponent know that the service isn't all Country Club.

Kidding with Snead about the Army-Navy final just before they teed off, Corporal Turnesa remarked: "Regardless of what happens, Sam, that bugle at Fort Dix blows at 5:30 in the morning."

Unscheduled Baseball Action

While teammates, umpires and managers stand around and "let them go to it," Al Niemiec, left, Seattle Rainiers' second baseman and Gilly Campbell, former Rainier catcher now with Los Angeles, trade punches during a game at Seattle. The unscheduled contest lasted 15 minutes.

Boxing Moguls Forget Incident

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—Law...

and order? ... after the Lou...

ana boxing commission suspended matchmaker Lew Raymond and manager Johnny Cox for talking out of turn, the commissioners learned that Raymond couldn't be suspended because he never was licensed, and Cox could not legally be set down, except for an "offense against boxing."

... so they called the whole thing off ... and in baseball, scribes point out that since President Alvin Gardner of the Texas League decided a few years ago that umpires should not act as peacemakers when the boys began punching, there have been only half as many fights.

Booker Beckwith, who looked like a first class heavyweight prospect a few months ago, is playing a saxophone in a Gary, Ind., orchestra ... when Tom Leib, Florida grid coach, asked Harry Mehre of Mississippi what he was going to do for assistants next fall, Mehre replied: "When you and I played for Rockne, he didn't have any assistants. We'll have to do the same thing."

ODD BASEBALL ERROR

They tell more stories than you can believe about happenings in the Kitty League, but until further notice this should stand as the error record; the other night John Pavoris, Fulton's rookie third baseman, fielded a slow bouncer ... as he straightened up, his cap flew off and he threw the ball right into the cap ... together they sailed over the pitcher's head, grazed the umpire and landed halfway between the mound and first base ... the base runners were too surprised to run, and the first baseman did not know where to look ... Pavoris finally dashed across and retrieved the pill himself, but not until two runs had been scored.

Ken Black Quits Competitive Golf

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ken Black, Canadian amateur golf champion who beat a class field here Saturday to win the Vancouver city golf championship, said Monday he would retire from competitive play for the duration.

"From now on I'm only going to play in charity matches and exhibitions," Black said. "I've had more real enjoyment out of golf in the past six months just playing friendly matches than ever before and I think I'll keep it that way."

That means, added Black, that he won't be entering the forthcoming western amateur tourney.

Baseball Postponed

Owing to wet grounds Monday night's senior league ball game between the Eagles and Army was postponed. Teams will resume play Wednesday evening with Pitzer & Nex engaging the Royal Canadian Navy at 6:30.

Second division games carded tonight follow:
R.C.N. vs. Eagles, Admirals Road.

V.M.D. vs. Army, Beacon Hill (lower ground).

Games are scheduled for 6:30.

To blackout the windows of a west coast aircraft factory, it took 100 professional painters, working 24 hours a day, five days and five hours to complete the job. They used 4,408 gallons of black paint.

Cincinnati Skids Braves

Sweep Six Straight

Houdini at his best could not have turned the tables on Boston Braves as swiftly and completely as Cincinnati Reds performed the trick this week-end.

Before Friday the Reds were floundering futilely in the second division of the National League and the Braves, who had been a bold second for quite a spell, still were holding determinedly to third place.

Then Casey Stengel led his band into an ambush at Cincinnati and in four days the Reds beat the Braves six times—lifting Cincinnati to third place and dropping Boston to a groggy fifth.

The Reds completed their sweep of the series Monday with a 3 to 1 triumph on the three-hit hurling of big Paul Derringer. For eight innings the stout-hearted righthander had a no-hit game in his grasp and the only Boston player to get on base reached first through an error in the opening inning. Derringer finally was tapped for three singles and a run in the ninth, but didn't lose his grasp on victory.

There was only one other game scheduled in the major leagues, and in this New York Yankees squeezed out an 11 to 10 decision over Cleveland Indians when relief pitcher Toernerick made a wild throw on Joe Gordon's sacrifice bunt with two on base in the 11th inning.

It was a suitable payoff for a ragged ball game in which each club used three pitchers and the world champions made 16 hits and three errors to Cleveland's 15 hits and two miscues.

Cleveland could have recaptured second place in the American League from the idle Detroit Tigers by winning, but the Yankees made it their 26th triumph in 31 games and four of five in the series with the Tribe.

As a sideline Joe Gordon stretched his hitting streak to 23 games and Buddy Hassett extended his to 20.

COAST LEAGUE

First place in Coast League baseball is the prize this week in the series between Los Angeles and Sacramento at the latter club's home park.

The Angels are on precarious ground at the top of the heap, a game ahead of the Solons and three games beyond San Diego.

Also on schedule for this week is a clash for a place in the upper division between the fourth-place Seattle club and the Seals.

Except for the game-losing, ninth-inning balk by Pitcher Bob Joyce in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader, the Seals looked formidable in winning a series from Hollywood, four games to three.

The Rainiers' dropped a series to the Seals a month ago and if the San Francisco men repeat they can pass Oakland and win an upper division berth for the first time this year.

Oakland meets the strong San Diego club at Lane Park where civilian defence authorities are still determining whether or not the park's lights interfere with the coastal dim-out. Today's game is tentatively set for the afternoon.

Portland dropped a series to the Padres last week after rallying to take the last three games for the only wins in seven games played at San Diego.

The Beavers move up to Hollywood where they battle the Twinkles for the cellar spot.

Red Dutton's Son Missing

CALGARY (CP)—Fit. Serg. Joe Dutton, 22, R.C.A.F., son of Mervyn (Red) Dutton, manager of the Brooklyn Americans of the National Hockey League, is missing as a result of air operations overseas the night of June 6, according to word received by his parents Monday.

The young airman, pilot of a bomber, had been overseas a year. Monday morning his family received a letter from him, saying that at the time of writing, his trips on attacks over enemy territory numbered 15.

Fit. Serg. Dutton attended St. John's College, Winnipeg, played hockey with River Vale, N.J., team in the eastern United States prior to enlisting.

A younger brother, Alex, is overseas with the R.C.A.F., attached to the R.A.F., while another brother, Norman, is still in school.

Banquet for Dominoes

Victoria Dominoes, recent winners of the Canadian senior men's basketball championship, following a trip which carried them across the Dominion to Montreal, will be honored at a banquet and presentation to be held at the Empress Hotel June 17.

In announcing the date of the affair today, Johnny Johnson declared it would be open to the general public and that tickets can now be purchased at Bob Peden's, Johnson Street, or Art Chapman's, Douglas Street. The dinner will start at 7.

Efforts are being made to have Premier John Hart attend and make presentations to the members of the national champions. It is understood the players and team officials will receive suitably engraved signet rings.

Further details on the program will be announced later.

Sacrifice

Mickey Owen of Brooklyn club sends Dixie Walker to second with neat sacrifice bunt as Dodgers shut out New York Giants 6 to 0 before 49,308 persons at Polo Grounds. Catcher Harry Danning starts after ball. Umpire is Lee Ballanfant.

Former Golf Ruler Rated Title Threat

CHICAGO (AP)—Immortal Bobby Jones, after 12 years of virtual retirement, will attempt to leap back into golfing glory in the Hale America national open next week.

Playing some of his best golf in a decade, as indicated in a par-slashing 54 holes last week-end, he's coming here to win, although he won't admit it. Observers are ready to tab him as one of the men to beat.

(Gordon Brydson of Toronto Mississauga and Bob Gray of the Scarborough Club, near Toronto, will represent Canada in the tournament.)

(They will present each competitor with an invitation to compete in the Canadian open at the Mississauga Club, Aug. 6-7-8.)

New golfing greats have remade the headlines since stocky Bobby collected his famous grand slam—winning the British amateur and open, United States open and amateur in succession—and announced his retirement. The Augusta Masters has been his lone annual return to competition. The Hale America at Ridgemoor becomes the first tournament outside the Masters that Bobby has entered, and there is much speculation he will do better in it than he ever has done in the Masters.

BACK IN GROOVE

"Look at that pair of 67's and that 71 he carded on the Atlanta East Lake course last week," observers chorus, "he's getting back into the groove. And East Lake comes nearer to being a carbon copy of Ridgemoor than any layout in the country."

In his home in Atlanta Monday night Jones said he would not have entered the Hale America "if it weren't for patriotic considerations."

"I felt it my duty to accept the U.S.G.A.'s invitation and wanted to aid in raising money for the United Services Organization and navy relief," he said.

Matson Cup Golf At Uplands Sunday

Open to all island golfers who are members of recognized clubs, the annual handicap tournament for the Matson Cup will be held at the Uplands Club Sunday. It will be 36 holes medal on full handicap.

Prizes will be awarded to the low net for the first and second rounds, and also to the competitors with the low gross during both rounds. The winner of the silverware, which is symbolic of the island handicap title, will not only receive the cup, but a replica and another prize. Bill Cotton, last year's winner, will not play as he is training to be a pilot in the R.C.A.F. The entry list will close Friday evening at 5, with secretary J. C. Beveridge of the Uplands club, but post entries will be accepted at the course until the day of the event.

Services Play Jokers Tonight

Jokers and United Services meet for the second time this season tonight, and if the black-shirt crew doesn't win, coach Jimmy Smith will be almost ready to admit that he won't know where to turn next.

Jokers started off the season with four games without a defeat and then dropped overwhelming decisions to James Bay and Douglas Tire. Since then boss Smith has been holding workouts and giving pep talks.

United Services, who have been singularly unsuccessful despite their all-star line-up, seem to be rounding into a team under constant practice and look better each time out. Manager Norm Barton and coach Karl Grauer, however, have strengthened the team's weakest department, the goal-tending section. They have a new lad, Herbie Smith, who has been reputed to look much better than average in training sessions. He will take over where Ernie Gawley and Jim Ryan have left off.

Game starts at 8:30 at the Sports Centre with a preliminary at 7 between Aces and Oakland, Juvenile B teams.

United Services line-up follows: Smith, Bray, Andrews, McDonald, Mayo, James, Hall, Carney, Colpitts, Minns, Temple, Stevens, Cadyzien, McCann and Card.

Tonight's Softball

Victoria Longshoremen, who haven't yet been able to knock over the R.C.N. softball nine, will have another try tonight when the two teams meet at Athletic Park.

The longshoremen have strengthened their line-up and have visions of decisioning the fast and hard-hitting navy squad.

In a senior B tilt V.M.D. and Hudson's Bay will play at Central Park. Games are scheduled for 6:45.

TODD CUP COMPETITION

Saturday the first half of the annual competition for the Charles F. Todd cup, consisting of 18 holes medal play on handicap will be held at the Victoria Golf Club. The second half under the same conditions will be played June 20. The winner will hold the cup for one year and will receive an additional prize. Competitors will choose their opponents and arrange for their starting times. Post entries will be accepted.

According to the old adage, the proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof, and among the most interesting of the human documents that come to this column are letters from women who tell how they have solved certain vital problems in their lives. After all, our theories are merely fine-spun fancies, based on wishful thinking, that may, or may not, work out in actual practice, but the plan that has proved itself a success when put to the test comes with the authority of experience, so the words of these ladies who have found a remedy for one of the major headaches of their sex are worth listening to.

Of course, the great trouble with wives is what to do with, or to, husbands who get that tired feeling along about middle age and ask their Marias for divorces as casually as they would ask for another piece of pie. Naturally Maria doesn't want to hand out a decree absolute and see some other woman half her age and a third her weight splurging around on the fortune she has helped build up by pinching pennies and cooking and washing and scrubbing and pushing her own baby carriage.

She doesn't rush the thought of being thrown out on the scrap heap along with the other odds and ends of discarded furniture for which her husband has lost his taste. Nor does the life of the gay divorcee, as it is pictured in novels and plays, appeal to her. As she has seen it in real life it has more tears than champagne in it, and the ex-wife spends more time trying to collect her alimony than she does in dancing the rhumba.

Besides, for some unaccountable reason, she still loves the poor, unstable, befuddled creature to whom she is married. She knows him better than he knows himself and she is perfectly aware that he doesn't really want to divorce her. He just thinks he does. He has a passing fancy for some pretty little gold-digger and he would be perfectly miserable when he waked up from his trance and found himself married to a strange woman who didn't know or care anything about his rheumatism and who couldn't cook to suit him.

So, on all counts, the old wife wants to save her job, her husband, herself, her children and the home, but the question has been how to do it.

Most wives have tried the tear route, which got them nowhere. Others have sought to lambast their husbands back into the straight and narrow road with reproaches, which only drove them

U.S. Soldiers Find 'Different World' in Surinam

Surinam, or Dutch Guiana, does not look very big on most maps of South America. Yet this colony is a little larger than the state of New York.

It is an important place, too. It supplies the United States with most of its bauxite. Bauxite is the chief substance from which aluminum is taken.

The machine below is used in the manufacture of aluminum

Surinam is a hot, wet country with about 85 inches of rain per year. It is almost covered with forests, and parts of it have never been explored by white men.

There are about 19,000 "bus negres" in Surinam. They are grandchildren and great-grandchildren of slaves who escaped from their masters many years ago. Fleeing into the jungle, they made their living in the same ways as old-time Indians used to do. They found it possible to get along in the wilds.

Besides the bush negroes, Sumnam contains 46,000 persons whose ancestors came from islands near Asia, or who, themselves, moved thousands of miles to make their home in the New World. Many of these once dwelt in the thickly-settled island of Java.

The colony contains only about 1,000 whites, not counting the American soldiers who have been ber. American troops are in Sumnam to guard it against attack by the Axis. Since aluminum is important in the present war, the supply of bauxite must be watched with care.

What a change those American soldiers have had! Surinam is a land of the tropics. It has cash and breadfruit trees, along with great numbers of tree ferns. In its rivers Victoria water lilies grow. These plants have large leaves which rest on the surface of the water. Some of the leaves are from five to six feet wide!

In the forests and jungles, parrots fly about, also bell birds, toucans, jacamars and puff birds. There also are chattering monkeys and slinking jaguars. Sloths slowly climb about the trees, hanging upside down as they move along a limb.

The famous Surinam toads live in Surinam, also in French Guiana, British Guiana and in parts of Brazil. Female toads of this kind carry eggs on their backs. Later

If you were asked to tell the native home of Surinam toads, you might well reply, "the Gulanas and Brazil." The expression "the Gulanas" includes Surinam, or Dutch Guiana, as well as the other Gulanas.

NANAIMO (CP) — Five fishing boats of the salmon-trolling fleet were caught in a sudden storm in the Gulf of Georgia. Monday, and driven ashore and wrecked on the jagged rocks off Cape Mudge, but all of those aboard, mostly Indians, escaped safely.

Two other boats similarly driven ashore, were refloated and removed to sheltered waters. Three big fish packers, two owned by B.C. Packers, and a third belonging to F. Millard and Co., were forced to seek shelter by the storm.

The five boats driven ashore were badly holed by the rocks. For a considerable time the heavy seas prevented assistance being given to the boats, but most of the fishermen made their escape before their boats were holed.

Retired Teachers Return to Work

The shortage of teachers, due to enrolment of many of the younger members of the profession in various branches of war service, is calling back into the ranks scores of men and women who retired into private life years ago.

The emergency is responsible for a large enrolment of retired teachers in the classes of the Department of Education's annual summer school which opens July 6 at the Victoria High School under Director Dr. C. B. Conway. Via the Summer School the veteran teachers will brush up their techniques in readiness to take on classroom duties at the beginning of September.

The war is coloring the summer school student personnel in other ways. Among the 560 registrants to date are a number of high school students who, because of the serious shortage of teachers, are being assisted by the Department of Education to take part of their senior matriculation course so that they may enter the Normal School a year earlier and thus become available a year sooner for teaching positions.

SUMMER PROGRAM

In addition to the serious classroom, students at the Summer School this year will enjoy the usual series of extracurricular events, among the artists already engaged being the English duo, Victoria Anderson and Viola Morris; the piano-violin recitalists, Daphne Carapata and Beth Morrison; the Seattle Woodwind trio, which will play July 14; John Goss, English baritone, July 16; Barbara Cusance, Vancouver pianist, July 29, and a group of nine from the Victoria Musical Arts Society, Rita Nev-

Conclude Drug Trial Today

Trial of Albert McCorish, in police court on a charge of being in illegal possession of morphine and cocaine, was concluded today and Magistrate Henry Hall reserved judgment until Wednesday.

Norman Dye, who earlier pleaded guilty to a similar charge, was remanded until Wednesday for sentence.

Both have also been charged with breaking and entering the office of Dr. R. D. Naismith. Trial on this charge is scheduled to start on Wednesday also.

Dye, McCorish's only witness, told the court today that McCorish knew nothing of the drugs confiscated by police when they raided the auto court cabin at which the two were staying May 25.

He said he had stolen them from a doctor's office in the Campbell Building the same afternoon, after having left McCorish in a downtown club.

On cross examination by C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, Dye said he had first met McCorish a year ago in Oakalla gaol. He said he next met him May 20 in a Victoria cafe and suggested then the two live together at an auto court.

Dye admitted breaking and entering a doctor's office between 2:30 and 3:30 on the afternoon of May 25. He said he stole some drugs there and approximately $75 in silver and bills from another office in the Campbell Building. Dye said he met McCorish in a cafe later and the two then went back to the auto camp. He said the police arrived a few minutes later, approximately 4:30, and they were arrested.

Dye said he did not show the drugs to McCorish and that McCorish was not aware that he had them.

Mr. Harrison listed 13 previous convictions against Dye, dating from 1935. They were for vagrancy, possession of drugs, breaking and entering, theft and escaping custody.

Going on the stand to testify in his own behalf, McCorish told the court that the object seen in his hand by Constable William Elliott, which Elliott said resembled the black rubber stopper on a confiscated bottle of cocaine, was the black stem of his pipe. He produced the pipe and it was entered as an exhibit.

Constable Elliott had told the court last Thursday that he had seen a black object in McCorish's hand as he climbed into the patrol wagon, May 25, and on searching the car at the station, a bottle of cocaine and other drugs were found secreted under a seat cushion. Dye said that it was he, not McCorish, who hid the drugs.

Retail Frills Cut Out

'Battle for Business' Waged by Price Board

A battle for business instead of a blitz against it is how W. S. Armstrong, official of the Victoria sub-regional office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, described the operations of the board to the Retail Credit Granters' Bureau at Spencer's today.

Dealing with the board procedure known as "simplified practice and procedure," Mr. Armstrong told the credit men its object was to cut the frills out of the retail business.

"At this moment," he said, "we are confronted with shortages of many materials—in some cases we have barely enough for the war effort and none whatever for civilian use—and in addition there is not sufficient suitable manpower to keep our war industries fully engaged and at the same time provide for the civilian population."

Since this difficulty could not be overcome by increasing supplies, the alternative of making more effective use of what is available had been adopted.

"Glamour had been taken out of retailing," he said. "We are at war, not peace, and we must strip to the waist to win. So far we have only taken off our double-breasted coats."

Reviewing what being done so far, Mr. Armstrong said some ground had been gained with food; retailing of bread had been simplified, other lines of food such as pork and beans, the macaroni products and others had been taken out of cans while fewer sizes of cans were being used for fruits, meat and vegetables.

"In a 10-oz. can," he said, "it takes six square inches of metal for every ounce of food against three square inches in a 20-oz. can."

Delivery of food had been simplified, Mr. Armstrong said, pointing out that some businesses that could be bought outright for $500 had maintained a $1,000 delivery truck. Citing other delivery regulations now generally familiar, he said some firms had co-operated of their own volition, the two largest department stores in Vancouver, for example, having pooled deliveries in North and West Vancouver since April.

NO MATCHING PROBLEM

He listed some of the new clothing regulations and pointed out:

"Your wife will have less trouble matching up your socks when there will be just eight designs by the fall instead of approximately 400 as at present."

"Waste is wicked," Mr. Armstrong concluded. "Some people have called this the 'scrimp and save' division of the Wartime Prices Board, and while it is true the program calls for elimination of every wasteful practice it should be borne in mind that manufacturers and retailers are expected reasonably to maintain their price ranges of merchandise."

The program, he said, is being administered by a small staff of trained executives recruited from industry and business. They are indeed earnest about their undertaking to make it possible for business to carry on under the price ceiling.

"There will be some casualties," he said. "The line may bulge a little here and there, but if it holds we will all be spared the nightmare of runaway prices and the disaster of uncontrolled inflation."

The meeting, the Credit Granters' last regular function until next fall, was presided over by Percy Noel, vice-president. O. M. Prentice reported on the credit convention at Seattle.

Strawberry Week Begins Saturday

The Strawberry Festival Committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and the Saanich Board of Trade decided Monday to hold the third annual Saanich Strawberry Week from June 13 to 20, inclusive.

The festival, designed to promote local sales of the Saanich fruit, will have a program similar to former years.

Reporting on the progress of the Wartime Harvesting Corps, Norman Foster said 80 persons had signed up to pick strawberries but many of the applications were made by school children who have not received their release from school. School students will be released for farm work if applications available from the superintendent of education are approved.

Since the strawberry harvest is expected to reach a peak within a few days, Mr. Foster urged all persons willing to serve as pickers to register at the Chamber of Commerce office immediately.

An investigation of transportation facilities will be made to see if it is possible to take pickers to and from the farms each day. Most farms offer accommodation for the pickers but persons offering their services desire to return to Victoria each night.

Mr. Foster emphasized the berries must be picked when they are ready or they will be a dead loss to the growers. He said it would be much more satisfactory for the growers if the pickers stayed at the farms.

Plans to distribute strawberries to hospitals, the Old Ladies' Home and the Old Men's Home were made. Victoria Boys' Band and the Victoria Girls' Drill Team will deliver the strawberries and provide some form of entertainment.

4 Ex-Wives Get Nothing From Barrymore Will

LOS ANGELES (AP)—John Barrymore's will, filed for probate today, disclosed that the actor's many-faceted personality included the fear of being buried alive.

The will, which specifically excluded all his four divorced wives from participating in his estate, requested his executors to employ doctors and co-operate fully with "any person who wishes to ascertain that I am in fact dead, and not in any other state having the semblance of death, in order, so far as possible, to avoid all risk of my being buried alive."

The actor, who made upward of a million during his long career, left an estate valued, in the legal phraseology, in excess of $10,000, but which his attorney, Gordon Levey, said would have no certain income.

With the exception of few specific bequests, Barrymore left his estate to his three children, Diana, 21; Dolores, 12, and John Blythe Barrymore, 10. It said: "I expressly make no provision herein for any of the said former wives. They are Elaine Barrymore, Dolores Costello, Michael Strange, the writer, and the late Katherine Corri Harris."

Specific bequests included: "That certain family letter from Abraham Lincoln to Mrs. Louisa Drew, dated June 25, 1864, and that certain painting of me by John Singer Sargent, to my daughter, Dolores Barrymore."

Controller Suggests Staggered Vacations

In order to prevent congestion of rail, bus and water transport facilities, the Controller of Transport has suggested employers and employees arrange to begin and end their holidays on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, and to stagger the vacations throughout the year.

The announcement of the controller says the purpose of the staggering is to ensure a maximum available supply of equipment for passenger travel of army, air force and navy personnel. It said the staggering of leaves throughout the year would prevent to some extent concentration of vacation leaves during the months of July and August.

Specific bequests included: "That certain family letter from Abraham Lincoln to Mrs. Louisa Drew, dated June 25, 1864, and that certain painting of me by John Singer Sargent, to my daughter, Dolores Barrymore."

Air Officials Here

Britain Grateful For Canada's Aid, Balfour States

Full of enthusiasm for Canada's magnificent air training system and expressing Britain's deep gratitude to this country, Capt. Harold Balfour, youthful, vigorous under-secretary of state for air in the British House of Commons, completed an inspection of air training establishments in British Columbia here today and will leave for a similar inspection in California.

With Capt. Balfour were Air Marshal A. G. R. Garrod, air member for training, British Air Ministry; Air Vice-Marshal Robert Leckie, R.C.A.F., and other officials of the air training scheme.

A veteran of the Royal Flying Corps in the first Great War.

CAPT. H. H. BALFOUR, M.C.

Capt. Balfour, a direct contradiction of the layman's conception of a statesman, dresses informally for flying and has a smile for everyone.

MADE RAIDS POSSIBLE

"Without the Empire Air Training Plan," he said, "the mass raids on Germany would have been impossible. The extension of the agreement (which he had signed at Ottawa a few days ago), means that we will never run short of air crews regardless of the number of planes the United Nations' factories are able to turn out."

"There are provisions for terminating the agreement quickly if war developments make that possible," Capt. Balfour said, explaining that although the pact was continued to 1945 that did not necessarily mean Allied strategists believed the war would last that long.

Predicting the size of bombers will increase year by year proportionately as much as in the past, Capt. Balfour declined to comment on future air raid strategy.

"The Germans would like to know that, too," he laughed.

HORSEPOWER THE KEY

"Roughly speaking," he said, "the main limiting factor on the size of bombers is the horsepower their engines are able to develop. Methods of increasing that horsepower are being developed and tested continuously and as they are proven the size of the bombers will continue to grow."

No extremist, Capt. Balfour does not believe the war can be won by air superiority alone. Commenting on the book "Victory Through Air Power," by Alexis de Seversky, Russian-born plane designer, the visitor said he did not agree with it.

"I think the war will be won by a skilful co-operation of land, sea and air forces, guided by flexible minds," he said. "History of the war so far, certainly has not shown the twilight of seapower as Mr. Seversky claims."

Capt. Balfour, who spent the afternoon at Patricia Bay, is a brother of the late Cmdr. Sydney Balfour who went down last January in the Mediterranean with H.M.S. Southampton. On Sunday in Vancouver, Capt. Balfour visited his brother's widow, the former Doreen Grant of Victoria, who is staying with her mother, Mrs. Beauchamp Tye. Cmdr. Balfour at one time lived in Victoria.

Church Organ Details Explained to Gyros

Edward Parsons, organist of the Metropolitan United Church, described the development and intricate mechanism of the modern pipe organ to members of the Victoria Gyro Club, Monday.

In his address, Mr. Parsons said that the organ in the Metropolitan United Church was installed in 1910 by the Casavant Bros. of St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, and is entirely of Canadian manufacture. At the time of erection it was the second best organ on the Pacific coast, with the largest one being in San Francisco. The largest in the city, it has 3,200

"All important organs who have played this organ are unanimous in their high praise for its tone and quality," the speaker said.

The meeting was held in the church, with the luncheon being served by members of the Women's Auxiliary. The members were welcomed to the church by Austin Curtis, representing the board of management of the church, and thanks were extended to Mr. Parsons by A. R. Minnis on behalf of the Gyros.

Upon the conclusion of his talk, the speaker played several selections on the organ.

Must Plan Now To Avert Crash

Planning for postwar conditions is absolutely necessary if another economic crash, such as was experienced in North America 10 years ago is to be avoided. Dr. H. M. Cassidy, head of University of California's social welfare department and former director of B.C.'s social services, said here today.

"I can see a great economic dislocation in both Canada and the United States when demobilization comes," Dr. Cassidy said. "There will be a relief crisis comparable to that of 1931 and 1932. It is essential that we carefully prepare plans to meet such a crisis."

Dr. Cassidy fears much of the burden will again fall on the municipalities.

"When the postwar crash comes, unless some orderly system for the municipalities is arranged, they will become bankrupt again," he said.

ABOLISH SMALL MUNICIPALITIES

Abolition of small municipalities and merging of them with larger municipalities is favored by Dr. Cassidy as one means of aiding municipalities.

"Unless this is done you cannot have efficient administration," he said. "No municipality smaller than 5,000 population should be allowed to exist."

Municipal costs are bound to mount after the war and revenues are bound to decrease and once more the municipalities will find themselves appealing to government for aid, Dr. Cassidy believes. Planning now is necessary to avoid this, as far as possible.

There is a tremendous amount of planning for postwar conditions going on now in the United States, he said.

Dr. Cassidy is going across Canada this summer gathering material for a book he will publish in September or October on postwar planning. In this regard he has support from the Carnegie Foundation.

In Victoria he is meeting government officials, including Hon. H. G. T. Perry, chairman of B.C.'s Rehabilitation Council.

Youth Is Task, Says Victoria Pastor

MONTREAL (CP) — A proposal that the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada should not meet again until 1944 was made at Monday's session by Rev. J. A. MacInnis of Orillia, Ont. He gave notice he would submit a motion to this effect at a later session.

The General Assembly normally meets once a year.

Mr. MacInnis told reporters his motion would be made on the grounds of economy, for each annual meeting of the General Assembly, which lasts a week or more, costs the church anywhere from $12,000 to $25,000.

Miss Margaret Webster, newly-appointed girls' work secretary, urged all congregations to arrange a program of girls' work at a time suitable for girls engaged in war work.

Rev. J. Lewis McLean of Victoria, B.C., said "the church's great opportunity and her greatest task today is youth—youth can be molded. If there is to be a Christian civilization tomorrow the church has the supreme task of leading and directing the youth into Christianity."

"There are many boys and girls in this land of ours growing up essentially pagan, not Christian," he declared. He told of a young Canadian soldier who had never been in a church. "We must know these young people, something of their problems and their way of thinking."

B.C. Japs Work In Ontario Fields

GLENCOE, Ont. (CP)—Sixty Japanese-Canadians, brought here from British Columbia to provide much-needed assistance in sugar beet fields, have been absorbed into this western Ontario community with little protest.

District farmers say the Japanese, who are quartered in the fair grounds under 24-hour supervision of the R.C.M.P., are industrious, even if a little slow in learning the work, which is described as about the hardest kind of farming.

From 8 o'clock every morning until 5 in the afternoon, the Japanese toil in the fields at the prevailing wage of $22 an acre for the season. They don't get the money direct, however. Sugar companies, which have the fields under contract, pay that sum into the bank and the money is then divided pro rata after deductions for hospital expenses, board and other costs.

"They're OK, these boys," commented one of the guards, Jim Wilson of Wardsville, as a truckload of Japanese, fresh from the fields, arrived at their camp for dinner. "Lots of education, most of them, and there isn't a smart-alec in the crowd," he added.

Residents said the Japanese are behaving themselves and working hard.

AT PETROLIA

PETROLIA, Ont. (CP)—Seventeen Japanese farm workers from British Columbia arrived here and started work in the beet fields of this district. They are quartered in the former fair grounds building under the supervision of the R.C.M.P.

Eskimo Dies Awaiting Trial

OTTAWA (CP)—Joshie is dead. Few people ever heard of Joshie, but the police said he was a murderer and his fellow Eskimos said he was an all-round bad character.

He died at Fort Ross on far northern Somerset Island while awaiting trial for murder late this summer when a ship bearing the men of the white man's law was expected to make its annual call.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police were sorry for Joshie, but a bit relieved to know he had cheated the jury and perhaps the hangman. Trials of Eskimos at lonely Arctic outposts are expensive and difficult and judges and juries are never quite sure how to apply the white man's law to the Eskimos.

Joshie was alleged to have left his mother, wife and four children to smother to death in an igloo. It took a lot of hard digging on the part of Constable J. W. Doyle of the Pond Inlet detachment to get the facts, but they led to a charge of murder.

He made a 600-mile journey by dog team to Joshie's former camp on Creswell Bay and found it completely buried under snow.

SAVED ONE SON

Joshie admitted his family was under the snow, but said he had tried unsuccessfully to get them out when the door of the igloo was blocked by a storm. The constable found it strange he had got a favorite adopted son out by cutting a hole in the roof.

After digging through deep ice and snow the constable and Eskimo assistants got into the igloo and found it deserted. The main doorway was blocked by a small trunk. The occupants had burrowed out. That was in May. It was not until August that the snow had gone down enough to permit a search for the bodies by further digging.

The six bodies were found emaciated and huddled together in a sort of dugout. They had tunneled about 200 feet from the igloo before dying of cold and starvation.

475 Italians Killed In Balkan Uprisings

MILAN (From Italian Broadcasts, AP)—An Italian casualty list issued Monday said 475 troops were killed, 783 were wounded and 78 were missing in the Balkans during May.

(The figures gave credence to reports of continued sharp fighting in Yugoslavia, Greece and Albania.)

Other casualties listed for May were: North Africa—109 killed, 117 wounded, 186 missing. Russia—79 killed, 215 wounded. Fleet—26 killed, 32 wounded, 99 missing. Air force—50 killed, 88 wounded, 37 missing.

Operations Extended

R.C.A.F. Fighter Squadron Joins Middle East Force

By WILLIAM STEWART LONDON (CP)—An R.C.A.F. fighter squadron has arrived in the Middle East to help knock the Axis out of the desert skies.

Though a number of Canadians already are serving in Libya and Malta with the R.A.F., the squadron headed by Sqdn-Ldr. Paul B. Pitcher of Montreal, is the first Canadian air unit to join the Middle East fighting. In the Far East, in Ceylon, there is an R.C.A.F. squadron of Catalina flying boats.

Air Vice-Marshal Harold Edwards, chief of R.C.A.F. headquarters in Britain, bid farewell to the airmen and their ground crews when they sailed from a British port wearing tropical kit and carrying big pit helmets.

"I firmly believe . . . you are particularly well suited to the type of fighting which will face you," he said. "The wide open spaces of Canada have something in common with the great expanses you will soon be encountering although the great stretches of sand and water will present some contrast."

Many members of the squadron came to Britain from Canada less than a year ago.

The two flight commanders of the squadron, Flt-Lieut. F. B. Foster of Montreal, and Flt-Lieut. W. H. Pentland of Calgary, both experienced fighter pilots, have been mates since they started training in Canada. The squadron adjutant, F.O. J. M. Rutherford of Montreal, sports first Great War ribbons on his tunic.

F.O. Graham Carpenter of Winnipeg, squadron engineer officer, was as eager as the fliers for a change of scenery.

"I've seen a lot of England, perhaps more than my share, in two years," he said.

Four Pilot Officers Bob and Joe Patterson of Saskatoon, brothers who enlisted, trained and fought together, it is a new chapter in their wartime side-by-side story.

No Federal Legislation

'Each Province Must Regulate Own Liquor Sales'—Ilsey

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Ilsey told the House of Commons Monday he did not believe any province would desire the federal government to legislate its liquor laws.

He was replying to a request from Rev. T. C. Douglas, C.C.F., Weyburn, Sask., that he make some statement to explain why the liquor industry had been left undisturbed, while sugar, coffee and tea were rationed.

Mr. Ilsey said liquor was not in the class with the commodities which had been rationed, and that its manufacture did not interfere with the war effort.

The minister took issue with those who complained about the government's attitude toward the liquor traffic, and said they should direct their agitation to the provinces.

It was a "wholly reprehensible attitude" when people complained about beer being sent to soldiers fighting on the Libyan desert, he said, and he had heard that and similar complaints.

"People who make sarcastic remarks about sending beer to Libya should be better employed," the minister declared. "I do not say that the sale of liquor should not be curtailed, but let us put the argument on a sound basis."

There had been complaints that the liquor business had been left alone, but it had been subject of taxation increases of 100 per cent and more since the war started, and was heavily taxed before that.

Mr. Douglas said he was not advocating national prohibition by federal government action, but there was the matter of bottles, machinery, sugar, cereals and other essentials, as well as labor involved in its manufacture that might better be directed into the war effort.

The discussion arose during consideration of the $2,000,000 war appropriation bill in committee.

11,500 Killed At Cologne

LONDON (CP)—Reuters said in a dispatch datelined "at the French frontier" today that Otto Abetz, the German ambassador, had acknowledged in conversations in Paris that 11,000 to 12,000 persons were killed in the R.A.F.'s bombardment of Cologne, and that 180,000 persons had been ordered evacuated.

U.S. Army Fliers Sink 33 Jap Ships

MOUNT PLEASANT, Iowa—Lt. Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the United States army air force, speaking Monday at the Iowa Wesleyan College, said: "For every one of our planes shot down, the Japs have lost four." Gen. Arnold credited the army air force with this "score of destruction."

Thirty-three Jap warcraft bombed and sunk, 44 Jap transports, freighters and tankers bombed and sunk, more than 300 Jap fighters and bombers destroyed in air combat, and more than 200 Jap fighters and bombers destroyed on the ground.

FREDDY MARTIN AT DOMINION

Melodramatic thrills, enhanced by sweet rhythmic strains of music by Freddy Martin and his orchestra, abound in RKO Radio's "The Mayor of 44th Street," starring George Murphy and Anne Shirley which opens at the Dominion Theatre today.

The film develops an underlying theme of the sure-fire sort—a courageous young man's struggle to overcome terrific odds and assert his right to life, love and happiness.

The interest lies in accenting a superior brand of popular music, played by Freddy Martin and his band, against a gangland background. This evidences a keen sense of entertainment on the part of the film's producers and an intelligent determination to keep well abreast of modern entertainment trends.

CAPITOL THEATRE
It was found vitally necessary to use a calculating machine to compute the enormous amount of food consumed during the filming of the big feast scene in 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor musical, "Song of the Islands," which is now at the Capitol Theatre.

The colorful extravaganza starring Betty Grable, Victor Mature and Jack Oakie offers a tropical feast or "luau" of truly Lucullan magnitude, which had prop director Eddy Jones virtually in the restaurant business.

The scene called for no less than 30 roast chickens, six whole roast pigs, eight bunches of bananas, 200 pineapples, 200 pounds of grapes, 100 pounds of papayas, 100 coconuts, 200 pounds of fish and 300 pounds of pol. All the cast was a bit apprehensive of the feast, especially when they were appraised the amounts of food.

RIO THEATRE
Jerome Kern's music underscores Universal's "One Night in the Tropics," which is at the Rio Theatre.

Sharing starring roles with Bud Abbott and Lou Costello are Allan Jones, Nancy Kelly, Robert Cummings and Peggy Moran.

The story presents Jones as a young insurance man, with Cummings as his best pal, Cummings is engaged to marry Nancy Kelly, but his ex-girl friend, Peggy Moran, proves a stumbling block to the marriage plans.

ATLAS THEATRE
Robert Montgomery, suspicious of George Sanders' attentions to Ingrid Bergman, enacting his wife, arranges for the two to be thrown together during his absence, with the result that a murder is enacted which turns out to be the "crime of the century." The situation is from "Rage in Heaven," filmization of James Hilton's thrilling novel, which is now at the York.

ATLAS THEATRE
"Benjamin Blake," the brilliant novel by Edison Marshall, has been made into a film. Entitled "Son of Fury," the story of Benjamin Blake, the film stars Tyrone Power and is playing at the Atlas Theatre.

The publishers of the book, sold 200,000 copies of the first printing. A tale of adventure, romance and action, the novel—and the picture—is laid in 18th Century England.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES
During Frank Lloyd's filming for Universal of "The Spoilers," Marlene Dietrich was named by the New York Press Photographers' Association for having the prettiest legs of any subject in public prominence.

Miss Dietrich is co-starred with Randolph Scott and John Wayne in the Rex Beach saga now at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres.

ST. BARNABAS FESTIVAL
On St. Barnabas Day, Thursday, the Holy Eucharist will be offered at St. Barnabas' Church at 8 a.m. and also at 9.30 a.m. (Instead of at 10.30 a.m. as originally announced). In the evening, commencing at 7.30, the Guild of St. Barnabas will hold an imaginary-bazaar, and a concert and play will be given by the Mount View Choir, under the direction of Denis Brown.
